

Special meeting set for tonight

ZBA to resume DetRo sludge hearing

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

DetRo Recovery Products will get a public hearing at 7:30 tonight before the Zoning Board of Appeals as the sludge composting firm continues its battle to build a plant in the city.

A large crowd is expected to fill City Council Chambers at the special meeting. DetRo will appeal a denial by the Planning Commission of the firm's site plan for a plant on Goddard Road, just east of Wayne Road adjacent to City Hall.

The Planning Commission on Feb. 17 denied DetRo's site plan for improper zoning on the proposed 36-acre site that is currently zoned M-2. Romulus has nothing in its present zoning ordinance to permit sludge compost plants. Ms. Vivian Armstrong, secretary for the Planning Commission and ZBA, said the denial was based on legal counsel received from the city attorney.

City Planner Dave Sanders of Wcacy and Associates has drafted a proposed zoning ordinance amendment that would permit sludge composting in M-2 areas upon special approval. City Council is reviewing the proposed amendment that was explained to them by Sanders in a special session last week.

City Attorney Chuck Lowther wrote a letter to the Romulus Planning Commission, dated Feb. 16, upon which it based the decision to deny DetRo's site plan.

The present application calls into question whether the proposed use is permitted in the M-2 zoning classification as a matter of right." Lowther's letter stated.

"It is our opinion that such usage as proposed does not fall within the allowable uses of right in the M-2 district."

Lowther then cited two court cases pertaining to the interpretation of zoning ordinances. "It has been held by the courts of this state that 'a zoning ordinance must be construed reasonably with regard both to object sought to be obtained and to the general structure of the ordinance as a whole."

"The M-2 zoning district does not specifically provide for such sludge compost operations as is being proposed. Indeed, the statement of purpose for the M-2 district (see section 17.01) specifically states that the intent of the M-2 District is to permit uses which are primarily of the manufacturing, assembling and fabricating character and that the purpose of the regulations in the M-2 district are designed to permit the location of industry which will not cause adverse effect on residential and commercial areas of the city," Lowther's letter to the Planning Commission explained.

Lowther concluded: "The statement of purpose further recites that uses which are incompatible with the permitted industrial uses are prohibited."

Tonight's public hearing of DetRo's case is the only one on the ZBA's agenda and the public will have an opportunity to speak on the issue.

Millionaire's Party set

A benefit "Millionaire's Party," sponsored by the Romulus Club, will be held Saturday, April 4 to help a 9-year-old girl who suffered severe eye damage.

The event will run from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Romulus Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga Road, Romulus and ticket donations are $5.

All proceeds will be donated to pay the medical expenses of Mary King, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles King of Romulus.

In January 1980, Mary suffered extensive damage to her left eye when a knife she was using slipped and pierced the iris, cornea, lens, pupil and retina.

Emergency surgery was performed at Wayne County General Hospital, after which she was transferred to Mott Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor for further treatment.

Insurance for the required medical treatment has been depleted and the medical expenses continue to mount. In addition to helping a needy Romulus family, Rotarians guarantee all contributors a fun-filled evening with games of chance, raffles, prizes and refreshments.

For further information, call 941-4274 or contact any Romulus Rotarian.

Barn dance

"The Gentleman," a well-known Country and Western band, will be the featured entertainers at an old-fashioned Barn Dance this Saturday, March 21.

Sponsored by the Mayor William M. Oakley Committee, the event will run from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Progressive Hall, 11580 Ozga in Romulus.

"We want everyone to don a pair of blue jeans and other country attire to celebrate the 1981 re-election campaign with the Mayor, his friends and family," a spokesman said.

Tickets are $7.50 per person for the barn dance, which will provide dancing, beer and set-ups, door prizes and raffles. For ticket information call 941-1077 or 941-3714.

Batter's up

With the increasing needs for recreation and the corresponding need for officials, Romulus is starting its own umpires association.

"We're starting our own umpires association this spring and hope to expand it to cover other sports in the future," said Dennis Davidson, Romulus recreation supervisor.

Davidson said the new group is meeting regularly and persons interested in training to become and umpire or officials of other sports should contact the Romulus Recreation Department at 941-0666, ext. 254.

Knock your block off

How many times has someone threatened to "Knock your block off?" Well, vandals took that saying literally last week when they not only knocked the cinder blocks from the back wall of the storage building at Romulus Park No. 1, at Henry Ruff and Beverly, but carried off the blocks as well. In addition to stealing the bricks, vandals ripped out electrical outlets and did such damage that the building will probably have to be torn down, recreation officials said.

Thieves steal remaining bleachers

Vandals complete the job

What the vandals didn't get the first time, they came and stole on the second trip.

Recreation Director Dennis Davidson said thieves stole 20 aluminum bleacher seats two weeks ago from Romulus Park Number One at Beverly and Henry Ruff roads.

They left 60 risers remaining on the first base side of the softball diamond after the first theft. Well, thieves came back and stole the remaining 60 risers last week.

Those thefts, coupled with other damage and thievery at Elmer Johnson Park, on Ozga Road, places the total destruction and replacement costs at about $6,000.

In addition to stealing the risers at Park Number 1, vandals stole most of the bricks from the back wall of a shelter type building there. Not only did they steal the bricks from the wall, they stole electrical material and other items from the building.

"It's a shame that all the residents have to suffer for the malicious acts of a destructive few," Davidson said. "Replacement costs are extremely high and the vandalism is so senseless."

Seeking higher offices

Two well-known Romulus officials announced this week they are seeking higher elective office. Leonard Folmar, who has been Clerk for all of the city's 11 years, will run for mayor, while Dep. Clerk Linda Choate will be on the ballot for Clerk.

Council gives Mayor approval to hire police chief

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

City Council has unanimously authorized Mayor William M. Oakley to hire a police chief on March 20 if there was no significant move by Wayne County this week to ensure police protection for Romulus.

Also, the Chief Executive of the city received approval to identify patrolmen's starting annual salary at $17,500 if Romulus goes ahead to create its own police force.

For the second week in a row, Council and the mayor discussed at length the current stalemate between the County Commissioners and Wayne County Sheriff, William Lucas.

Oakley had two simple requests for Council to approve, to give the mayor authority to hire a police chief, if necessary, no later than March 20, and also to identify patrolmen's starting salary at $17,500.

"We only have two months until May 19," Oakley stressed, identifying the date that the Wayne County Deputies are supposed to be laid off and not protect Romulus anymore.

"I'm hard-pressed to hire a police chief because there's going to be another infamous court case on Monday (March 16). I'd like to get to know the police chief real well — then maybe in three weeks or so hire police officers," Oakley said.

Councilman Ed Rush asked the mayor if he had any number in mind to hire.

"I have 25 in mind but that may change as I talk with the police chief and hear his suggestions and recommendations," Oakley replied.

Rush asked, "What about Lieutenants and those in charge?"

"Everyone will start at $17,500," Oakley said. "After we start, I imagine I'll be coming back to ask council to approve three Sergeant positions."

Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks told of the great amount of work involved in starting a Romulus Police Department in the next few weeks. "We've reached the point of no return," she said in describing the emergency situation.

Mayor Oakley and every member of Council stressed that they wanted a contract with Wayne County for police protection. But they added quickly the need to be prepared in case the County Commissioners do not fund the County Deputies.

Councilman Jimmie C. Raspberry, while recognizing the urgency of the situation, said there was no way Romulus could have its own police force in two months.

"There's no way you can hire and implement a police department in this amount of time," the veteran Councilman said. "There's no way it will be effective."

Oakley explained to Council, "I'll be responsible if this thing goes belly-up." The Mayor listed some costs involved. "I think it will cost us $1-million the first year and $2-million the second year for our police department, including buildings, equipment and increment raises."

Oakley said he contacted Gov. William Milliken for his assistance in helping to solve the contract dispute between Romulus and Wayne County. "I wrote Gov. Milliken a 2-page letter three weeks ago to see if we could count on him for help," Oakley said.

"I contacted Sen. Bill Faust and he

Folmar will seek mayor's job City clerk tosses 'hat into ring'

Leonard Folmar, who has been Clerk in Romulus since it became a city in 1970, has decided to run for Mayor. He also announced this week that Deputy Clerk Linda Choate would seek the office of Clerk in this year's election.

"Romulus, long recognized as having unparalleled potential, has staggered, failing to realize even the beginnings of what is possible, Folmar said. "We all suffer as a result of the failure of the community. In an age when the cost of living, unemployment, crime and taxes are soaring, Government is obligated to aggressively pursue means to minimize the impact on its citizens."

"Citizens of Romulus have a difficult time regulating the rising cost of living. What have we done? Citizens of Romulus have little, if any, means to halt rising unemployment. What have we done? Citizens of Romulus are being victimized by rising crime. What have we done? Citizens of Romulus have no ability to check runaway taxes. What have we done? Government only exists to provide services to citizens that they, themselves cannot more effectively perform," he said.

"Romulus is a fertile community and has the ability to answer these questions. We need but to plant the seeds of leadership, dedication, knowledge of Government, sensitivity to the expressed needs of the community, a willingness to share, share in the decision-making process, and commitment."

"Commitments often give the illusion of differences or cross purposes, in long standing friendships. It is my prayer that this not be the case. We must all hold firmly to the commitment that we make to the community, this must be our first priority. It is not the friendship that undergoes change, it is the needs of the community that necessitate metamorphosis, and it is our willingness to attempt to address those needs which give substance to our commitments," Folmar explained.

Romulus government has been home for Folmar for the 13 years, two administratively and 11 years as City Clerk.

"For all 13 years, I have had a burning desire to maximize, at every opportunity, the potential of this tremendous Community," he said. "It is this same

Athletic booster club formed at Romulus

The fast-rising costs of high school athletic programs have caused some prep sports to be curtailed and others to be eliminated entirely.

Romulus Community Schools, like so many others, are fighting to maintain a wide-range of sports activities in the face of spiraling inflation.

With that in mind, and facing the strong possibility of major cutbacks in school sports, some 25 people met Thursday evening to form a booster club for Romulus Schools.

Bill Hardy, athletic director at Romulus High School, and School Board President Wayne Avery were two important persons responsible for getting the meeting arranged.

"I was really pleased with the significant number of people who turned out for the meeting," Hardy said.

"There were many constructive ideas offered that will help guide a steering committee we have formed. I think the Boosters Club will be a project where everyone can make a contribution."

Police nab break-in suspects

2 elderly women robbed in their home

Wayne County sheriffs are on the alert for two men who broke into an elderly couple's home in Romulus and robbed them after tying up their victims with telephone cord.

According to Det. Frank Burton, the two robbers broke into the home of Thelma Martin, 61, and her mother, Amada Barber, of 30114 Elm Court in Romulus Saturday night.

The robbers, both wearing masks, asked for money and received about $12 in cash. Not satisfied with the amount, the robbers ripped the telephone cord off the wall, tied up their victims, then proceeded to ransack the house.

Det. Burton said the robbers managed to make off with a TV set, cassette player, Mrs. Barber's gold wedding band and a birthstone.

"We have a theory that the robbers may have lived in the neighborhood," said Det. Burton. "We're asking anyone who saw anything to please call us."

Burton said that the two victims managed to work themselves loose and later call police. He said that Mrs. Martin complained about chest pains and was immediately rushed to Ann Arbor Hospital.

The detective said that the victims described the robbers as two black males, in their late teens or early 20s. One flashed a hand gun and wore a black and red ski mask, while the other hid his face behind a nylon stocking.

Sheriff's deputies also said they hope to erase some 15 break-ins from the books with the arrest of two Romulus men. The two defendants have been accused of a rash of breaking and enterings, mainly in Romulus, committed over a span of one year.

The defendants: Joseph Thompson, 19, and Brian Bandrow, 17, address unknown, were taken to an out-county courtroom and arraigned on the charge of illegal entry into a dwelling.

Bandrow and Thompson both pleaded not guilty and remanded to Wayne County Jail in lieu of $5,000 cash bond.

Examination has been set for March 25 in 34th District Court (Romulus).

According to deputies, the two defendants are specifically charged with breaking into a house at 34551 Wick Rd.

The deputies said they watched as the two suspects removed reported stolen property — a loaded gun and $30 in pennies. They said the two defendants later admitted to at least 15 other break-ins in the area.

'Can't accept in good conscience'

County commissioner refuses pay hike

Proclaiming, "I cannot accept the money in good conscience," Wayne County Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski has announced refusal of the $1,500 annual pay increase awarded to all non-judicial county elected officials by the County Compensation Commission in December.

The Compensation Commission is a seven-member body of private citizens authorized by state statute whose recommendations are reversible only by two-thirds vote of the County Board of Commissioners. Although the Board in January voted 15-1 against the raise, it failed to achieve the necessary 18 to block the raise effective Jan. 1, 1982.

Because of legal technicalities, Citkowski sought opinion from the County Office of Corporation Counsel on procedure for turning down or relinquishing the increase. In a letter from counsel he was advised that commissioners cannot waive their right to compensation as members of the Board, but that the County is not exempt from gifts or grants.

Accordingly, for those who want to reject the increase, Corporation Counsel advises acceptance of the raise, and recommends a gift for the same amount returned to the County general fund.

"That is definitely the procedure I will follow," Citkowski declared. "Despite the fact that I need the money as much or more as anybody else, I am against a raise for us during this critical period in the county financial situation.

"Even though we certainly deserve a raise—inflation dictates that for all of us—Wayne County simply doesn't have bonus money at this time. This is a period of extreme economic hardship when people in commerce and industry are being forced to accept salary curtailments. I see no reason why it should be different in government, especially among us who determine the policy."

Citkowski pointed out that he is serving his second consecutive year as member of the County Labor Relations Board which negotiates all union contracts for the county, and that the labor board has been ordered by the Board of Commissioners to grant no increases for general employees of the county.

"It would simply be too hypocritical of me to hold two seats trying to enforce a no-raise policy, then accept what someone else has proposed for me," Citkowski explained. He predicted that several other commissioners would also relinquish the raise, saying, "It's ironic that we have to accept it in the first place."

According to the opinion from Corporation Counsel referring to state statute, a commissioner cannot waive right to compensation for services as a member of the Board because "it has been repeatedly held" by the state Supreme Court that compensation to a public officer is statutory in nature and not contractual, "therefore precluding enforcement of any agreement waiving a portion of the salary fixed for the term of office."

"This forces me to take a roundabout approach, but if this is the way I have to do it, then this is what I will do," Citkowski stated. Emphasizing that he has no other income other than Board pay, Citkowski said that nevertheless he will present the county with a $1,500 check soon after the raise takes effect next year.

Census Bureau conducts area employment survey

The U.S. Bureau of the Census is conducting a regular survey on employment and unemployment in the area during the week of March 16-20, according to Robert G. McWilliam, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit.

In addition to the usual questions on current employment, the March survey will include others concerning the work experience and income of household members last year and whether they have moved since March 1980.

Households in this area are part of the sample of 78,000 across the country scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all U.S. households.

The monthly survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor and provides a continuous record of activity in the labor force. The January survey indicated that of the 105.5 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 97.7 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.4 percent, the same as in December and little different from the rates which have prevailed since May of last year.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Pastor Bogel to appear in Belleville

Harmony Hall will present Radio Pastor George Bogel on Saturday, March 21, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Pastor Bogel whose "Crusade for Christ" Church has a 24-hour prayer line and has a storage house for the needy. A pastor for over 13 years, Bogel is featured on TV 62 from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday and Friday. He can be heard on radio MUZ-LQV. There is a $5 contribution and services will begin at 7:30 p.m. Further information may be obtained by telephoning 461-2456. Harmony Hall is located at 970 Savage Rd. in Belleville.

On dean's list

Two Belleville residents are among 32 students from Washtenaw Community College in Ann Arbor who have been nominated to the National Dean's List by the College.

Timothy S. Melvin and Denise J. Patterson of Belleville have been on the Dean's Honor List at the college for two consecutive semesters to be eligible for the national list.

Seniors prepare for Conference on Aging

The Retired Senior Volunteer Program of Wayne County in conjunction with the Michigan Association of RSVP Directors is sponsoring a "Salute to Older Americans" in preparation for the 1981 White House Conference on Aging.

The salute will honor 10,000 older persons in Michigan on April 9, 1981 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Cobo Arena in Detroit.

The intent of this tribute is to bring together older Americans whose physical presence will provide testimony that older Americans are credible and viable contributing members in today's society as service providers rather than service recipients, a spokesman for the group said.

Through the efforts of Governor Milliken's office, the day will be proclaimed a day of honor for Older Americans.

Special guest speakers and special tributes will honor actively involved Senior Americans who have been nominated for their service contribution either in the paid or volunteer capacity.

General admission, which includes lunch, is $7.50. Further information, can be obtained by calling 883-2100 ext. 227.

Councilman gets 'equal time' on Detroit channel

Rush refutes TV 2 editorial on police controversy

Councilman Ed Rush took some good-natured kidding last week from his colleagues about being a "television star." Rush appeared four times on TV 2 last week Monday evening and Tuesday noon with a guest viewpoint explaining Romulus' side of the continuing controversy with the county and how much is owed for police protection. Bob McBride, general manager of TV

2, criticized Romulus in a recent editorial without contacting anyone from the city for an opportunity to reply. Rush contacted TV 2 and was given one minute Guest Viewpoint to respond.

Here is Rush's reply:

"In opposition to TV 2's editorial, Wayne County taxpayers are not being zapped because of Romulus. The fact is, in 1977 Romulus paid a million dollars over a 9-month period for an audit of our costs for the Sheriff's services.

"We agreed to pay additional costs for the contract between the Sheriff's Deputies and the county. The County Commissioners want to charge Romulus a 20 percent administration fee instead of the 10 percent they charge the airport for Sheriff services. And we've been asking why the big difference?

"In June of 1980, Romulus cut Sheriff services by $32,000 a month but we have continued to pay that much and $110,000 each month. The people of Romulus do not appreciate the implication that our Sheriff services are being subsidized by the rest of Wayne County.

"We pay the same tax rate as all other Wayne County communities. This controversy isn't over our willingness to pay for Sheriff services we agreed to, in our contract with the county, but paying for unfair increases and excessive administrative costs they're charging us.

"We support the need to reorganize Wayne County government. And we demand the Board of Commissioners tell all Wayne County residents how they plan to use more than three million dollars saved in eliminating the Wayne County Road Patrol.

"That's my guest viewpoint. I'm Ed Rush."

COUNCILMAN ED RUSH

MRS. LOIS STREETY . . . proud of her heritage in Black History.

Romulus family roots rich in area history

By PHYLISS KREFT
Special ANP Writer

A recent article appeared in the Detroit Free Press entitled "Black History in Detroit" and it surprised everyone at Beverly School in Romulus except Mrs. Lois Streety.

Mrs. Streety is very aware of her roots which dig deep into the history of Detroit. The newspaper article told about her paternal great, great grandfather, William Lambert, and history has always been a topic of discussion and interest in the Streety family.

On the day the morning newspaper came out, Mrs. Streety calmly asked her fellow workers at Beverly School if they had read "The Way We Live" section of the Free Press.

Everyone wanted to know why.

Her reply, "Because my family tree is on display, along with several family photographs. I knew they were going to run several articles on Black History and I knew several of my relatives were going to be in the paper."

"I just didn't know exactly when they would appear," she said.

Mrs. Streety says her great, great paternal grandfather, William Lambert, was one of the first black men to settle in the city of Detroit. He had been active in the abolitionist movement in the east and when he settled in Detroit he and George DeBaptiste formed the first formal abolitionist organization in the state of Michigan in 1842.

Mr. Lambert was one of the founders of the first black Episcopal Church in Detroit, called St. Matthews.

He also helped support the Civil War and helped many slaves escape through the underground railroad into Canada. Lambert and a group of black citizens brought to the attention of the Supreme Court a law that was passed in 1869 but had been virtually ignored.

The law stated that black children could attend school in the district where they lived. Until his death he campaigned for civil rights. Mr. Lambert married a Detroit woman who bore him five children and his first son, Toussaint Lambert, became the first black mail carrier in the City of Detroit.

Mrs. Streety is a direct descendant of Mr. Lambert. She also took up the cause of civil rights and joined the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) Youth Council in the 1940's.

Mrs. Streety, along with her husband and three children, moved from Livonia to Romulus and settled on Beverly Street in 1969.

"That's when I first got involved with Beverly School and I've been here ever since," she said. "I served as a part-time cook, Girl Scout mother and coached Little League baseball for girls." Jan. 26 marked her 11th year as a para-professional at Beverly School.

Mrs. Streety and her husband, Horace, now retired and a part-time security guard, live on Wahrman Road in Wellesley Manor.

"All three of our children are grown," Mrs. Streety pointed out. "Barbara is married and lives in Hampton, Virginia with her husband and two children. Christine is married, has one child, and is in her senior year at Kent State U.

"Billy attends Concordia Lutheran College in Ann Arbor and will transfer to Michigan State University in the fall to major in forestry."

But even with her children grown and away, Mrs. Streety still keeps very busy.

For the past 33 years she has been a member of the oldest continuing club of black women in the state — the Original Willing Workers.

"The club just celebrated its 93rd anniversary last November and we meet on the second Thursday of each month in the homes of members," she explained.

"We do charitable work for the United Foundation and other worthy groups. At first our membership was open only to the daughters and granddaughters of original members. But now our membership is open," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Streety both belong to the Star Dusters, a travel club for black people. "In the past 12 years we have traveled extensively throughout Michigan and the United States."

And traveling comes easy to Mrs. Streety. As naturally as it came to her great, great maternal uncle, George W. Hatter, who was an escaped slave from West Va.

Hatter escaped from a West Virginia plantation and by means of the underground railroad made his way to Canada by way of New York. Hatter's grandson, 81-year-old Frank Morris is Mrs. Streety's uncle and resides in Detroit.

It seems only fitting that Mrs. Streety should settle in Romulus and that the Romulus Historical Society is trying to get the Romulus Wesleyan Church designated as a historical landmark.

It is rumored that Wesleyan Church helped runaway slaves and played a vital part in the underground railroad that helped them to freedom.

Mrs. Streety is also extremely proud of her heritage that had such an important part in the history of that movement.

had not heard anything from the Governor about my letter. If it's too hot for the governor — he's got a lot more experience than I have."

Oakley said he had a State Police Commander in mind to hire a chief if the situation dictates that move. He was asked what he would do if he hired a police chief and 25 officers and then the county decided to provide police protection.

Oakley responded that it would mean a 30-day salary for the police chief and one week's pay for policemen. Oakley praised Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas for his outstanding cooperation and said he was to be lauded for his fine work in trying to work out a contract for Romulus police protection.

Athletic booster club is formed

Club is the official name of the group to encourage volunteers to assist the sports program in the district. The next meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. on Thursday, March 19 in the Romulus High School Auditorium, 8650 Wayne Road.

"We encourage everyone to come to that meeting and help be a part of this new positive program," Hardy said.

John Percy was elected chairman of a steering committee Thursday night at the meeting. Jim Sullivan was named vice-chairman and Mrs. Catherine Given is the secretary-treasurer.

Hardy said that the first order of business will be to contact all the parents of students from the 6th through the 12th grade that are involved in any way with athletics.

"We're going after memberships right now — not only parents of those involved in athletics in any way, but also those parents who may not have children in sports," Hardy pointed out. "We want everybody in Romulus who wants to continue a quality sports program for all the boys and girls to join in the project."

Many parents will receive letters in the mail inviting them to the next meeting and explaining something about the new booster club. Most school districts have booster clubs and the financial crunch will probably mean a greater dependence upon them by local school athletic programs.

The four-fold thrust of the new booster club will be centered around: 1) Memberships — whether people have children in school sports or not; 2) Events and services — volunteers to sell tickets, man the yard chains and clock at football games, for instance; 3) Concessions — volunteers to sell refreshments to help raise money at games; and 4) A Social Committee — to help get as many

Romulus residents involved as possible

Board President Avery was also enthusiastic about the positive results of Thursday's meeting.

"It was one of the most positive meetings I've ever attended during my time in Romulus," he said. "I share Mr. Hardy's concerns about the possible reduction or elimination of sports in Romulus and I'm personally willing to do whatever I can to help provide a good athletic program for the boys and girls in our city."

Avery also encouraged everyone to attend the next booster club meeting on Thursday, March 19.

desire which has continued to burn over the years that drives me to this cross road of metamorphosis.

"The citizens of this part of the nation, and certainly citizens of Romulus, are facing perilous times, and if we are to survive, we must all step forward to offer the talents we possess. Every citizen will be called upon to lend a hand.

Government can no longer get by, by doing the same as it has done for years. Metamorphosis is the agenda for the eighties.

With your support, I offer my service. Let's make the commitment to change, to meet the challenge of the rising cost of living, unemployment, crime and taxes.

"On April 25, 1981, we will hold an announcement party, at the Airport Hilton Hotel, to offer my candidacy for Mayor of the City of Romulus; we shall also offer the candidacy of Linda Choate for Clerk of the City of Romulus," Folmar said.

Mrs. Choate has been with the Office of the City Clerk for nine years. During this period she has served in several capacities, the last three years as Deputy Clerk for the City of Romulus.

"Mrs. Choate is an extremely competent individual who possesses that rare quality so needed in public life, compassion," Folmar said.

She has been a resident of Romulus for 19 years and married 23 years to her husband, Kenneth, who is plant Superintendent with L.B. Foster Company, Plymouth.

She is the mother of two children, Richard, currently serving his country in the United States Air Force, and Suzanne, who is employed with Huron Valley Oil Company.

"I have worked with Mrs. Choate for nine years; subsequently, I am able to speak authoritatively regarding her competence, her sensitivity to people and her dedication to duty," Folmar said.

"We have all benefited by the services she has rendered to the community. Rest assured that the Office of the City Clerk will flourish under her leadership."

Tickets to the April 25 Announcement Party of Folmar and Choate may be obtained by calling Al Lucke (941-9523), or Mike Woods (728-6598).

Cocktail time is from 5-6 p.m.; dinner from 6-8 p.m. and the party from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Cost for the dinner and party is $35 and $12.50 for the party only.

Music for dancing will be provided by Johnny Wallace beginning at 8 p.m.

Opens service center in Romulus

Co-op services credit union acquires KelHay Federal

Co-op Services Credit Union, one of the largest and most successful credit unions in Michigan, acquired the assets and liabilities of the KelHay Federal Credit Union in late February.

This merger between the two credit unions was the second largest in Michigan's history.

KelHay Federal Credit Union served employees of Kelsey Hayes, an automotive related company with several plants in Michigan. When unemployment and inflationary problems started to affect the KelHay Federal Credit Union, a merger with another credit union was sought.

"Speaking on behalf of KelHay members and the Board of Directors, we are pleased to be part of Co-op Services Credit Union," said Dick Bayless, former President of the KelHay Federal Credit Union.

As a result of the merger, Co-op Services opened a service center at 38900 Huron River Drive in Romulus. This was the former office of the KelHay Federal Credit Union.

According to Chuck Smith, general manager of the Dearborn based financial institution, the site of the new service center is part of our ongoing effort to conveniently service our members as well as former KelHay Federal members.

Co-op Services Credit Union, a non-profit organization chartered in 1954, has rapidly grown to become the fourth largest credit union in the state in terms of total membership. A major factor in the credit union's expansion has been its open membership charter.

Smith said, "Our sponsoring organization is Cooperative Services, Inc., a non-profit consumer cooperative, which is open to all people for membership at a nominal cost of $2. You can join Co-op Services Credit Union at the same time for 25 cents, which is a lifetime membership. We have members throughout the United States who transact business by mail or telephone."

Co-op Services' continued strong growth is also attributed to the exceptional financial services and benefits it offers. Currently paying a high 6 percent annual dividend (interest) on savings, offering a free 'check-like' account called savings drafts which earn daily interest, and the many other outstanding savings programs enable Co-op Services to compete effectively with other types of financial institutions.

The credit union not only serves individual members, but employee groups as well, Mr. Smith explains. "Unlike most credit unions which serve just one parent company, we provide credit union service to the employees of more than 450 companies around the metropolitan area. Many employers believe credit union service is a valuable fringe benefit for their employees and have established payroll deduction programs through the credit union."

He added that there was no fee or charge to an organization for setting up such a program.

Anyone requesting information about joining Co-op Services Credit Union is welcome to come in to 38900 Huron River Drive or call the Romulus office at 941-3880. The service center is open on Monday and Friday, 10 to 6 p.m. and Tuesday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Co-op Services main office is located in Dearborn with two service centers in Livonia, one in Westland, Wyandotte, Riverview, Madison Heights and Kalamazoo. The many locations of the Anytime Teller Machines further adds to the convenience of transacting financial business with the credit union.

Welcome to Romulus

Mayor William M. Oakley of Romulus (center) helped cut the ribbon to welcome a new credit union to the city last week. Kelsey Hayes Employees Credit Union changed hands when Co-op Services Credit Union, a state-chartered firm, opened for business at 38900 W. Huron River Drive, Romulus. Flanking Mayor Oakley, from left, are Chuck Smith, general manager, Richard Bayless, President of KelHayCo, Chris Jones, service center manager, and Graham Edwards, president of Co-op Services. Co-op Services Credit Union's main office is on Warren Avenue in Dearborn and another service center is located on Wayne Road, one-half mile north of Ford Road, in Westland.

Ford to introduce Mercury LN7 sportcoupe in April

When Lincoln-Mercury Division introduces the 1982 Mercury LN7 sport coupe in April, it will use the same kind of imaginative advertising created to launch the 1981 Lynx "World Car" last fall.

"Our division has a new advertising strategy that reflects new values and new attitudes," said John B. Vanderzee, Lincoln-Mercury advertising manager.

As with the Lynx, he said, advertising for the new LN7 will depart from the conventional.

"We've mothballed the traditional approach, best symbolized by scenes of cars next to white picket fences and beautiful homes on hills," he said.

"We've adopted what we believe is a refreshing new style that's more in tune with the attitudes and values of today's car buyers."

Vanderzee described the LN7 as a "stylish, innovative, front-wheel-drive, 'bubbleback' two-seater that almost looks too good to be able to provide the economy of operation that today's sporty-car buyers want."

"And yet, it meets the test," he said, "so it's only fitting that our television commercials and print ads use a stylish, innovative approach to tell that story. We want the world to know that our little sport coupe is designed to be a fun car, as well as one that's fuel efficient."

The division and its advertising agency, Young & Rubicam (Y & R), again turned to the creative genius of England's Howard Guard — the brains behind some of Europe's most innovative new-car advertising — to develop the kind of attention-getting TV commercials for the LN7 that he did for the Lynx.

"What he put together is nothing short of sensational," Mr. Vanderzee said.

Borrowing the lynx cat and huge sphere — symbolic of the world — from the Lynx commercials, Guard and Y & R created a series of LN7 commercials that address not only the car's fuel economy but its superior styling, handling and many other features appropriate for today's market.

In one of them, a bright lime green metallic LN7 is seen, half in shadow, zipping along a red-painted road on a parched desert, with the luminous sphere in the distance.

The torso of a man dressed in black is seen shifting gears and maneuvering the car through its paces. All the while, shots of the car and its functional features are intercut with glimpses of the cat observing the car, seeming to sense the thrill of driving it.

The commercial concludes with the lynx leaping atop the sphere which, through the magic of special effects, becomes a globe. And a voice is heard saying, "Now, more than ever, the world belongs to Lincoln-Mercury."

The commercials will begin airing on March 30 and will be supplemented by a special five-page, four-color spread to appear in national magazines, starting April 6.

Project Health-O-Rama comes to Belleville area

Oakwood Hospital will provide free screening tests, health care information, and counseling at the Oakwood Family Medical Center on April 4 as part of a metropolitan area wide program called "Project Health-O-Rama."

Services available at the center, located at 19130 Sumpter Road, include: height, weight, blood pressure testing, vision screening, anemia testing, glaucoma testing, nutrition and drug information, and counseling.

Hours for the program, co-sponsored by WXYZ-TV, Blue Cross-Blue Shield, and United Health, will be 9:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.

No appointment is necessary and everyone over the age of 18 is eligible. Volunteers from the Oakwood Family Medical Center, Eastern Michigan University School of Nursing and the September Days Senior Citizens' Group will be present to assist on these days.

Funds received from the EIDL loans may be used to provide working capital and to meet financial obligations that otherwise would have been met had the disaster not occurred. Where possible, and without causing undue hardship, a business must use its own assets or credit from the private sector, if available at reasonable rates, to meet its financial obligations.

Applications for physical damage or economic injury may be obtained from the S.B.A. Disaster Branch Office on the Mezzanine Floor

Deadline set for disaster loans

If you live in Van Buren or Wayne, the Michigan District Office of the U.S. Small Business Administration wants you to know that application for disaster loans will be accepted only through April 9, 1981.

Under the S.B.A. Disaster Program, Farmers, Homesteaders, Renters and Business owners whose crops, homes, personal property, business property and/or business inventory were damaged or destroyed by the severe weather conditions may apply for low interest loans to pay for crop losses or to repair or replace their damaged properties to pre-disaster status.

The amount of the loan is limited to damage not covered by insurance, and in the case of homeowners or renters, may not exceed $50,000 for real property, or $10,000 for personal property, or a combined limit of $55,000 for both. Farmers and Businesses may apply for loans up to $500,000. Interest rates range from three (3%) percent per annum to eight and one-quarter (8 1/4%) percent per annum.

Businesses that have suffered economic injury as a direct result of the disaster may apply until July 9, 1981 for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL). Such businesses are required to submit documents showing that the economic injury suffered was directly attributable to the disaster.

WHAT DO I TELL MY CHILD WHEN SOMEONE DIES?

If news of a death seems to overwhelm you personally, "lean" on another supportive adult first. Then, approach your child. Get him in close physical contact and share your love, your sadness, and the news. You might say something like this:

"Billy, I feel sad about something that has happened. Your cousin Fred dies. That means he's gone and you won't see him again. No one will see him again."

By expressing your feelings calmly and giving calm support to his expression of feelings, you show him that he can deal with these feelings in himself.

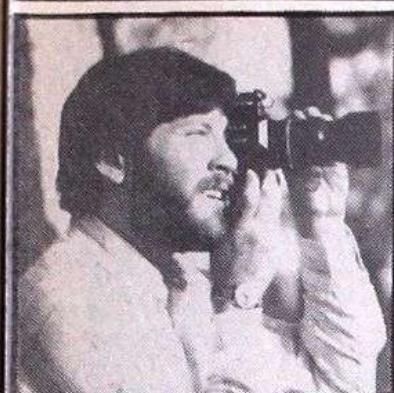

Don't be upset at his expressions of sadness. Children will often turn off their feelings rather than upset their parents. The fact is that children grow as a result of experiencing "difficult" feelings with their parents' support. But in dealing with such feelings, be sure your support and love are clearly expressed.

How to use 'the flash'

USING YOUR FLASH

As a rule, most people use their flash incorrectly, falling victim to what's known as "the accessory shoe syndrome." The problem with using your flash on the camera (the direct flash method) is that it gives harsh, uninteresting lighting with deep and harsh edge shadows thrown on nearby objects. This is not to say there is no place for on camera flash when there is a reason for it.

Let's look at some possibilities for lighting your pictures.

DIRECT FLASH

If you must mount your flash on the edge shadows thrown on nearby objects. This is not to say there is no place for on camera flash when there is a reason for it.

ZONE FLASH

An alternate method to direct flash is to standardize on three or four shooting distances. If you accept the premise that the majority of flash situations will fit the composition resulting from working at predetermined distances, you can preset both focus and aperture.

Good working distances with a normal lens (in the case of 35mm camera we are talking about a 50mm lens) seems to be 5, 10, or 15 feet.

Sharp pictures are achieved by placing the subject at one of those three distances from the camera, or if you will, placing the camera at one of those three distances from the subject.

OFF CAMERA FLASH

By removing your flash unit from the hot shoe you can achieve a more natural lighting effect. You may need an accessory flash or sync cord to connect the camera to the flash unit.

If you cannot position your subject several feet in front of the background, or if the background is to be part of the picture, all you need to do is remove the flash unit from the camera and hold it up and to one side of the subject (keep the flash pointed at the subject) and make the exposure, by doing this the shadows from the flash will be directed down and away from the subject.

By varying the position of the flash unit you will achieve different effects, so do some experimenting.

Egg and the chicken

By STANLEY E. BARTKIEWICZ, D.V.M.
Bartz Animal Hospital

In the chicken, the incubation period is 21 days. This is the length of time it takes for a chick to develop in an egg and then hatch out. Eggs need special care to help increase the chance of a chick developing.

Before incubation, the eggs should be checked over, any cracked or dirty eggs should be discarded. The clean, whole eggs can then be placed in an incubator, big end up.

An incubator can be very simple, such as a light bulb and shoe box, or very complex, such as a box over six feet tall with fans, controlled temperature and humidity, and a mechanism that can turn the eggs automatically.

For a few eggs it is best to start small — maybe a little store bought incubator for six to twelve eggs would be a good beginning.

The temperature for incubation of chicken eggs is 100°F. This temperature must be constant and accurate. The temperature should be measured just above the eggs.

Humidity is important in incubation. Eggs will dehydrate through tiny pores in the shell if the humidity is too low. A pan of water placed in the incubator may offer enough evaporation humidity. Humidity of 60% is ideal.

The eggs should be turned at least eight times each day. Turn eggs one way then back the other. This prevents the chicks from sticking to the side of the egg.

Three weeks after placing the eggs in the incubator, they should begin to hatch. The chicks peck their way out of the egg with a hard tip on the beak called an egg tooth. This egg tooth will later disappear.

The chicks should be placed in an enclosed area with a light bulb for warmth at one end (100-110°F) so that they can cool off away from the bulb at the other end (60-70°F). It is best to use a circular enclosure because the chicks will pile up when frightened and the chicks cornered at the bottom of the pile may suffocate.

Chicks should be kept on some type of litter and not a smooth surface to avoid developmental problems with their legs. They should be started on a chicken starter mash. As the chicks grow, the food can be changed to growth food and then maintenance food. The heat requirements will decrease as the chicks grow older.

Church approves new 'world-budget' for '81

Stewardship in the Belleville Seventh-Day Adventist Church helped boost the denomination's world budget for 1981 to $142 million dollars, reports A. Royce Snyman, Pastor.

The new budget for this year was approved at the denomination's Annual Council in Washington, D.C. It earmarked well over $68 million of the church's income for overseas mission programs — nearly half of the total budget, Pastor Snyman said.

In ancient times, Pastor Snyman states, the Israelites brought double tithe — and sometimes more — and placed it in the coffers of their desert church. The Seventh-Day Adventist Church follows the same practice.

The first tenth of an individual member's income is used primarily for the support of the clergy and missionaries. The second tenth goes for capital needs, administrative requirements, the operation of the denomination's health and educational facilities as well as its evangelistic outreach.

"We have found," says Pastor Snyman, "that you can't really 'outgive' God. The more you give to His work, the more He blesses you. One just seems to prosper even on less."

Pastor Snyman says, "We don't attempt to tell our members what they must give. We are more concerned with their spiritual health than their financial investment in the church. When their spiritual health is good, we have discovered that their financial commitment is greater. We consider stewardship to be more than the proper handling of money."

"We believe it involves a person's time, his talent, and personal commitment."

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

SETTING THE FACTS STRAIGHT

It is not a "fact of life" that several or all of the permanent teeth have to be lost as we grow older. Except for accidents or malformations, teeth are lost as a consequence of decay or periodontal (gum and bone) disease — conditions which can be prevented or arrested by timely and proper care. The primary cause of loss of teeth is neglect.

A toothache that "goes away by itself" does not mean that the tooth has recovered from whatever affected it. Pain is a warning signal that something is wrong and that no time should be lost in consulting a dentist.

Fillings do not weaken teeth! The truth is that unfilled cavities weaken teeth, and if neglected lead to loss of a tooth which timely filling could have completely prevented.

Drinking lots of milk does not prevent tooth decay. Milk is the richest dietary source of calcium, needed for teeth and bone-building, and an excellent food. But milk cannot arrest the process of tooth decay or prevent its inception.

Consumer Tips

Some interesting and helpful facts you may not know about your phone service.

ARTIFICIAL LARYNX: THIS SMALL INSTRUMENT IS FOR PERSONS WHO HAVE LOST THE USE OF THEIR LARYNX. IT SUBSTITUTES ELECTRONIC VIBRATIONS FOR THE NATURAL VIBRATIONS OF THE VOICE. CALL YOUR LOCAL MICHIGAN BELL BUSINESS OFFICE FOR MORE INFORMATION.

800 NUMBERS: Some out-of-town businesses provide an "800" number that you can dial without charge. For example, when you want to call out of town about reservations, look for 800 numbers provided in ads by hotels, motels, resorts, airlines and ground transportation.

MOVING? AVOID UNNECESSARY PHONE INSTALLATION CHARGES. PLAN HOW MANY PHONES AND WHAT KIND OF SERVICE YOU'LL NEED. THEN CALL AND TELL YOUR MICHIGAN BELL REPRESENTATIVE. REMEMBER, ONCE YOUR NEW SERVICE IS INSTALLED, EXTRA VISITS BY YOUR INSTALLER CAN MEAN EXTRA EXPENSES FOR YOU!

IN 1915, Michigan hooked up to the first cross-country long distance line and the first DETROIT-TO-SAN FRANCISCO call was made. It took 30 minutes to set up the three-minute call and cost the customer $16.70!

IN 1877, THE FIRST COMMERCIAL TELEPHONE LINE WAS USED BY A DETROIT DRUGSTORE. THE DETROIT POLICE DEPARTMENT WAS THE SECOND TO USE THE NEW BELL TELEPHONE. A NEWSPAPER ACCOUNT STATED THAT THE "TELEPHONE IN THE POLICE STATIONS CONTINUES TO AFFORD VISITORS AND ATTENDANTS MUCH ENTERTAINMENT."

EMERGENCY NUMBERS: HERE'S A LIFE-SAVING IDEA... IF YOU HAVE CHILDREN AT HOME, TEACH THEM HOW TO USE THE PHONE AND WHERE TO FIND EMERGENCY AND OTHER IMPORTANT NUMBERS IN CASE OF AN ACCIDENT, FIRE OR SUDDEN ILLNESS.

QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR PHONE SERVICE?

"Hi, I'm one of the dozens of MICHIGAN BELL SERVICE REPRESENTATIVES SERVING CUSTOMERS LIKE YOU THROUGHOUT MICHIGAN. IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT YOUR PHONE SERVICE, LOOK ON THE FRONT OF YOUR PHONE BILL FOR THE NUMBER OF YOUR SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE. HE OR SHE IS READY TO HELP."

You can call on us.

Star on ice

Petite Carrie Geneau of 3044 Cherry Street in Romulus will be among the many stars on ice when the renowned "Ice Travaganza" Ice Show is held in Yack Arena in Wyandotte. Residents of the downriver communities are preparing to stage the ninth annual gala show which will be staged on March 26 through March 29 at the arena which is located at 3131 Third Street.

Goal is to help solve financial problems

Chamber to host 'effectiveness workshop'

In an effort to provide the community and local business with assistance in solving some of the problems, the Romulus Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Total Effectiveness Workshop" conducted by Nancy Gilmore of Performance Training Associates.

Performance Training Associates is affiliated with the Performance Group, Inc. of Dallas, Texas and specializes in methods and systems designed to help people become more effective in their personal and professional lives.

Based on data collected over the last ten years the Performance Group has formulated a concept that people have been functioning at approximately half of their potential. This data can be directly correlated to our current economic slump and decline in productivity. The workshop is designed to give business people methods and techniques to increase effectiveness, productivity, sales and profits. It will be held at the Romulus Chamber of Commerce office.

10000 Wayne Rd. Through systems, the Performance Group has successfully worked with many small companies and major corporations to increase loyalty and team spirit, reduce turnover and help employees identify with company goals.

Prior to forming Performance Training Associates, Ms. Gilmore was in the management consulting field and her experience in the retail, service and manufacturing industries gives her keen insight into the problems facing a wide variety of businesses today.

Locally Ms. Gilmore has spoken to the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, the Romulus Rotary and the Canton Kiwanis.

If you are interested in participating a free informational meeting on the Total Effectiveness Workshop will be held at the Romulus Chamber of Commerce 10000 Wayne Road, Romulus on Thursday, March 26th at 7:00 p.m.

Miller's busy as bees

Students of Miller Elementary School in New Boston are working like "Busy Bees" with their teachers and parents preparing the rooms and hallways for the coming of Yellow Day, March 20th.

The purpose of the project is to make the children more aware of the coming of Spring.

Two representatives from each class have had special meetings with the teacher-coordinator, Mrs. Virginia Kohr, so that all efforts are united throughout the school on this project.

Anyone who wishes to view the displays are invited to come to the school on Friday, March 20th between the hours of 9-2.

A lot of time and effort has been put into this promotion of Spring. The P.T.O. hopes that the people of the community will take a few minutes to tour the hallways of Miller, it is sure to get person excited for the long awaited arrival of Spring.

Young Romulus skater in 'ice travaganza'

A cast of about 180 skaters including Romulus' Carrie Genau are brushing up their acts for the ninth annual "Ice Travaganza" which will be presented on Thurs., March 26 through Sun., March 29 at the Benjamin Yack Arena, 3131 Third Street, Wyandotte.

Self-portrait

Usually Paul Rowell isn't in the photo, as he is in the one above, but is constantly on the go seeking a unique subject to catch on film. Rowell, a senior at Romulus High, has made quite a name for himself as a photographer. He recently took part in the high school's annual National Vocational Education Week, putting to use his camera to publicize most of the activities. He was also on hand to explain some of the intricacies of the profession.

Huron installs National Honor Society members

Several Huron High School students have been recognized for special accomplishments.

The National Honor Society conducted tapping ceremonies of new inductees. Later this month the new members will be formally inducted during traditional ceremonies with parents, friends, Board of Education members, teachers and administrators present.

Seniors who have been tapped include: Kenneth Carter, Jon Garner, Gary Little, Pam Krzyske, Pamela Lowe, Sheila Owens, Sarah Richert, William Sands, Jennifer Smith and William Thomas.

Juniors who have been invited to join the Honor Society include: Robert Chappo, Duane Detlor, Lisa Holland, Suzanne Horvath, Paul Inson, John Kittle, Jennifer Kosacheff, Gina Maiani, Pamela Michaels, Rebecca Minges, Leslie Raker, Paul Timm and Maryjo Venglarik.

Sarah Renton has been selected by National Merit Scholarship Committee as a 1981 Merit Scholarship finalist. She will be considered for one of several scholarships that will be awarded this spring. National Merit Scholarships are funded by grants from corporations; foundations, business organizations and higher education institutions.

Jennifer Kosacheff has been selected as a delegate to the American Legion Auxiliary Girls State, scheduled for early June at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant.

Jennifer is being sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit No. 231. She will join hundreds of other juniors from other Michigan high schools, experiencing facets of the democratic process as it works in the American government.

Six band and orchestra members earned recognition at the Michigan High School Band and Orchestra Solo and Ensemble Festival competition at Livonia High School recently. David Drouillard was awarded first place for a bass solo; Alice Renton and Sarah Renton garnered seconds in French horn and clarinet, respectively, and Tracy Neifert, Paul Masson and Sarah Richert received a first place as a woodwind trio.

The four musicians earning first place honors will compete at the state level competition March 28, Rochester. They are under the direction of Gerald Kruase.

Open wide, please

Pupils in the grades kindergarten, first and second at Miller Elementary School in New Boston were visited by Dr. Jeffery Jaffe, D.D.S. and his wife Laura who is a dental hygienist.

The boys and girls were taught how to properly take care of their teeth and viewed an animated movie on dental care. All children left with a new toothbrush, plus a new determination to brush better so they can keep their smiles sparkling bright.

Dr. Jaffe and his wife were greeted and thanked for taking the time to come to the Miller Elementary School to explain proper dental care.

Bell's in control

Muscling his way under the boards, Romulus' Patrick Bell (22) sandwiched Ypsilanti defenders out of this play and got the rebound. Ypsilanti leaped out in front 14-3 in the first period, then held on to a 63-51 victory to claim their fifth consecutive tournament title. Ypsi went on to win the regionals, too.

Young photographer aids career seekers

Well, Hollywood could rewrite the series and call it: "Young Man with the Camera."

And the stories can be taken from the real-life adventures of a 12th grade Romulus High School student by the name of Paul Rowell.

Of course, Paul's experiences at Romulus High are not as exciting nor as dangerous as the television series was. But, whatever is missing in the area of danger and excitement is replaced by enthusiasm and a job well done. Rowell's photographic talents was a tremendous asset in promoting Vocational Education Week at Romulus High School last month, according to Alice Fugedi, Job Placement Coordinator.

"Paul was responsible for all the photographs taken for that festive week," she added. "Needless to say, the expertise and professionalism he displayed reinforced the opinion that the photography program at the high school is first class."

Rowell was successful in showing, through his photographs, highlights of the activities of that week. "It was obvious to everyone around Paul that he enjoyed his job," Ms. Fugedi continued, who quoted the young photographer as saying, "I enjoy capturing expressions of people, their delight or dislike of a given situation."

Rowell plans to continue his education after graduation in June. He hopes to attend the Creative Institute in Detroit, and pursue a career as a freelance photographer or commercial artist.

It appears that Paul Rowell, young man with the camera, has a dynamic future ahead of him.

USDA-ASCA to hold open house

Wayne County USDA-ASCS Office, formerly located in the Wayne Post Office in Wayne, will hold an Open House at its new location 5906 Sheldon Road, Canton, on Monday, March 23 from 1 to 4 P.M.

Wayne County ASCS Office is a branch of the United States Department of Agriculture and is responsible for administering farm programs available to Wayne County farmers.

Linda Peek, County Executive Director of Wayne County ASCS welcomes the farm community and area business' to join in the Open House at the new location.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER 214

AN ORDINANCE TO CREATE A DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY FOR THE CITY OF ROMULUS AND PURSUANT TO ACT NO. 197 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1975.

WHEREAS: Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1975 provides for the establishment of a downtown development authority; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus has determined it necessary and for the best interests of the public to halt property value deterioration and increase property tax valuation where possible in the business district, to eliminate the causes of that deterioration and to promote economic growth; and

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus has held a Public Hearing on the adoption of a proposed Ordinance creating a Downtown Development Authority and designating the boundaries of a downtown district; and

WHEREAS: Pursuant to the authority of said statute, the City Council desire to adopt an ordinance establishing a downtown development authority;

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

SECTION 214-100. SHORT TITLE: DOWNTOWN DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY

SECTION 214-200. CREATED: Pursuant to the authority of Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1975, as amended, the Romulus Downtown Development Authority shall be and hereby is created.

SECTION 214-300. POWERS AND DUTIES. The Romulus Downtown Development Authority shall exercise such powers and duties as provided and in accordance with the terms of P.A. 197 of 1975; being MCLA 125.1651 et seq. MSA 5.3010(1) et seq. including but not limited to the definition of a development area; the origination of a development plan; and, the implementation of a development program as provided in this Act.

SECTION 214-400. BOUNDARIES DESIGNATED. Pursuant to the requirements of P.A. 197 of 1975, the boundaries of the Downtown District are described in Exhibit "A" attached hereto and hereby made a part of this ordinance by reference.

SECTION 214-500. SEVERABILITY: The various part, sections and clauses of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be severable. If any part, section, paragraph, section or clause is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remainder of the ordinance shall not be affected thereby. All other ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are, to the extent of such inconsistencies, hereby repealed.

SECTION 214-600. PENALTIES: Any person, firm, group, corporation, or organization violating any of the provisions of the ordinance shall upon conviction thereof, be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars or imprisonment for a period not more than Ninety (90) days, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

SECTION 214-700. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication in the official newspaper

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk

City of Romulus

I, Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at their regular meeting held on the 10th day of February 1981.

Leonard J. Folmar, Clerk

City of Romulus

ATTEST: William M. Oakley, Mayor

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.

For Easter Seals

Little Jacob Koch of Romulus is perched on the shoulders of Detroit Pistons stars Johnny Long, ex Romulus High and University of Detroit cage star, (at left) and teammate Terry Tyler for a bird's eye view of the preparations for the U of D's "Basketball Marathon" for the Easter Seal Society, scheduled for Calihan Hall, Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28.

U-D cagers hold Easter Seal Benefit

Marathons have been around for a long time, and the basketball marathon scheduled for Calihan Hall at the University of Detroit, Friday, March 27 through Saturday, March 28, is no different.

This time, teams sponsored by the University Intramurals Department will pit their skills against teams from outside community organizations, media teams and those sponsored by local corporations.

For a month, players have collected pledges to help raise the $200 minimum entry fee to play in the marathon. Beginning at 6 p.m., Friday, March 27, teams will play on a draw basis for either one or two hours, with awards presented Saturday, March 28, following all the action.

Estimated play time will be 24 hours, with interested fans being able to watch their team play for a $1.00 admission charge.

A highlight of the fund raiser for the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County will be an exhibition game by the Westland Sparks, the metro area's only Wheelchair Basketball team at 9 Friday night.

Brad Kinsman, Director of Intramurals for the university and chairman for the event explained: "the University of Detroit is very excited about the basketball marathon. We hope to raise over $2,000, to help support recreation programs for the handicapped planned for this summer."

The top money raising team from the marathon will present their check on the 1981 Easter Seal Telethon, Sunday, March 29 at the studios of WDIV-TV 4, on behalf of all of the teams who will donate their time and energies to the cause.

Spring ushers in deadly tornado season

You remember last July's brutal summer storm that left millions of dollars in damages and homes without power for weeks?

Well, spring is just around the corner and, although it may be welcomed by most of us, it also brings a deadly hazard — tornadoes.

Residents also are advised by the State Police emergency services division that the coming of spring brings with it the potential for devastating tornadoes in the state.

Capt. Peter Basolo, commander of the emergency division, said that a proclamation by Governor William G. Milliken has designated March 15-21 as "Tornado Safety Week" in Michigan and that it alerts state residents to the need to know how to prepare themselves for possible tornado dangers.

The proclamation pointed out that Michigan since 1950 has had a total of 232 persons killed by a total of 516 tornadoes. One of the worst in recent years occurred on Palm Sunday, April 11, 1965, when storms struck several southern counties causing 53 deaths and $51 million in property damages.

In May last year, a tornado struck Van Buren counties, killing five persons, injuring 97 and causing $52.9 million in property damage.

Basolo emphasized that tornadoes can occur at any time of the night or day and in any month of the year. However, tornadoes occur most frequently in the April-July period and between the hours of 3 to 7 p.m.

The Governor's proclamation noted that state and local governments, civil defense directors, weather services and the public and private school systems and the press, radio and TV were cooperating in efforts to inform state residents about precautions, protection and general safety measures to be taken against tornado dangers.

Those persons having serious concerns regarding tornado safety are advised to contact their nearest State Police post, local civil defense authorities, police and fire departments for assistance. Some agencies have information material to distribute concerning tornado safety.

'Creatures of the Night' featured

A family nature program entitled "Creatures of the Night" will be presented at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropolitan near Flat Rock at 2 p.m. on Sun., March 22.

Park Naturalist Bob Wittersheim will discuss many of the night-time animals which live in our area and bring attention to the special adaptations they have developed to survive. Bats, owls, moths and fireflies will be highlighted.

For additional information contact Metro-park—Phone 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

4B. Motion by Cantrell, supported by Block, to adopt Resolution 81-053:

Resolution 81-053

WHEREAS: The Wayne County Circuit Court took action which requires the Wayne County Sheriff to continue to provide service, under the terms of an existing agreement, to the City of Romulus, up to and to include May 18, 1981; and

WHEREAS: The providing of police services is paramount to the operation of government. The City of Romulus must posture itself so as to be in a position to respond to whatever eventuality it faces May 20, 1981; and

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus continues to hold the hope that the long hours of laborious negotiations for a new police contract with the Wayne County Sheriff can be realized, it must be cognizant of the possibilities which fact it May 20, 1981; and

WHEREAS: Each week, each day, each hour that passes brings the City of Romulus, and its citizens, treacherously closer to this eventful day; subsequently, it must take steps to assure that on the morning of the 20th, the peace and tranquility of its citizens will not be threatened by its failure to provide adequate police protection; and

WHEREAS: The Mayor and City Council of the City of Romulus maintain the position that its citizens can best served by a continuation of the existing contractual agreement with the Wayne County Sheriff; it does, herewith, register its prayer that the Wayne County Board of Commissioners would see fit to order the culmination of long standing negotiations so as to, forthwith, provide a contractual agreement between the County of Wayne and the City of Romulus for police protection; and

WHEREAS: Notwithstanding the aforementioned, the City of Romulus is ill-equipped to take steps which would provide a representative police agency capable of dealing with the complexities of law enforcement within the constraints presently imposed, should all else fail; the Mayor and the City Council of the City of Romulus, does herewith implore the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to provide a format whereby an extension might be granted.

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That the Mayor and City Council of the City of Romulus, on behalf of the citizens thereof, appeal to your humanitarian virtues, imploring your recognition of our dilemma, and pray for a response to our petition by return courier, if not before.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes — Raspberry, Canejo, Block, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays — None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-054

4C. Motion by Block, supported by Yeramian, to concur with the recommendation of Mayor Oakley, and thereby grant same authorization to negotiate a contract, not to exceed Fourteen Thousand ($14,000) Dollars, with Wayne County for the Cross Connection Control Program in the City of Romulus. Roll call vote showing: Ayes — Raspberry, Canejo, Cantrell, Yeramian, Block, Rush, Banks. Nays — None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-055

4D. Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, due to the emergency conditions of City Roads, to grant Mayor Oakley authorization to enter into an emergency expenditure in the amount of Twenty-Six Hundred ($2,600) Dollars for the purchase of five thousand tons (5,000) of 3-X Slag for city roads. Roll call vote showing: Ayes — Raspberry, Block, Canejo, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays — None. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Rush, supported by Yeramian, to accept the Mayor's Report. Roll call vote showing: Ayes — Raspberry, Block, Canejo, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays — None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-056

7A. Motion by Rush, supported by Raspberry, to adopt Chapter 214 of the Romulus Code of Ordinances; and Ordinance to create a Downtown Development Authority for the City of Romulus and pursuant to Act No. 197 of the Public Acts of 1975. Roll call vote showing: Ayes — Raspberry, Block, Canejo, Yeramian, Cantrell, Rush, Banks. Nays — None. Motion carried unanimously.

81-057

7B. Motion by Rush, supported by Block, to concur with the recommendation of Treasurer McAnally and thereby approve a budget amendment increasing anticipated interest revenues from Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars to Sixty Thousand Five Hundred and Forty-six Dollars and Eighty Cents ($60,546.80), and allocating one Thousand Five Hundred Twelve Dollars ($1,512.00) to Account Number 101-253-818 (Treasurer-Contractual Services) for the purpose of armored car pick-up and bank delivery of cash deposits. Lt. LeCouteur takes part in Global Shield

Air Force 2nd Lt. Walter E. LeCouteur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. LeCouteur of 20058 Cornell St., Romulus, has participated in Global Shield 81, the Strategic Air Command's (SAC) response to a simulated attack on the United States.

The service member is among the more than 100,000 U.S. Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps and Canadian personnel taking part in SAC's largest, no-notice, 20-day training exercise.

During one portion of Global Shield, more than 500 B-52 and FB-111 bombers and KC-135 tankers took off from 70 different locations in the United States and Guam within minutes of notification.

This exercise is not related in any way to real world situations, according to a SAC spokesman.

Global Shield 81 is designed to test the command's capability to carry out emergency war orders to support U.S. policy if deterrence fails. This exercise has been constructed to measure SAC's response to a set of preplanned events leading up to a simulated attack on the United States, the spokesman explained.

As part of Global Shield, some SAC aircraft deploy to civilian and military airfields selected specifically for the exercise. Additionally, B-52s and FB-111s fly low-level training routes approved by the Federal Aviation Administration. The routes were preselected to help measure the simulated bombing, navigation and electronic counter-measure skills of SAC aircrews.

Coast Guard Boatswain's Mate 1st Class Joseph S. Cocking, son of Thomas J. and Doris J. Cocking of 29634 Bentley, Livonia, was graduated from the basic Boatswain's Mate School.

During the 12-week course at the Coast Guard Reserve Training Center in Yorktown, Va., students received instruction in seamanship, damage control and nautical rules of the road. They also studied piloting, navigation and search and rescue techniques.

A 1971 graduate of Bedford High School, Detroit, Cocking joined the Coast Guard in February 1973. His wife, Pamela, is the daughter of Marion E. and Dolores Armstrong of 41434 McBride, Belleville.

Alan D. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Nichols of 42242 McBride, Belleville, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Nichols is a general purpose vehicle mechanic at Bitburg Air Base, West Germany.

Pvt. 2 Christopher A. Woods, son of Walter Woods Jr. of 8149 S. Green, Chicago, and Edie Y. Woods of 49080 Denton Road, Belleville, recently received a parachutist badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the first week of training, students underwent a rigorous physical training program and received instruction in the theory of parachuting. The second week they received practical training by jumping from 34-foot and 250-foot towers. The final week included five staticline parachute jumps.

Pvt. Jackie D. Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis R. Meadows of 22845 Sumpter Road, Belleville, has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Pvt. Richard M. DeZoete, son of Bonnie

Nowack of 37011 Sibley, New Boston, and Richard W. DeZoete of 5576 N. 20th Park Land, Kalamazoo, Mich., has arrived for duty at Fort Hood, Texas.

DeZoete, a cook, was previously assigned at General Hospital, Portage, Mich.

Airman Noreen A. Bailey, daughter of Charles C. Bailey of 26314 Simone, Dearborn Heights, Mich., and Anne P. Havens of 5840 Victoria, Belleville, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airmen will now receive specialized instruction in avionics systems field.

Pvt. Tammy L. Block, daughter of Leona J. Frazier of 44879 Ecorse Road, Belleville, has arrived for duty at Fort Campbell, Ky.

Block was previously assigned at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Pvt. Clifford K. Whitehill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald K. Whitehill of 14716 H Road, Romulus, is attending basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Pvt. Jill R. Rose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Rose of 43259 Harris, Belleville, Mich., is attending basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students receive instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Second Lt. Walter E. LeCouteur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter LeCouteur of 20058 Cornell St., Romulus, Mich., has graduated from the Strategic Air Command's missile combat crew operational readiness training course at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. He will now receive additional training and duty as a missile combat crew member at Minot Air Force Base, N.D.

Keith A. Zecman, 20, son of Eugene Zecman, 169 Belle Villa Blvd., Belleville, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to Technical Sergeant Jim Besmer, the Air Force recruiter here, Zecman's entry into the DEP serves two purposes. First, it allows the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area. Second, the DEP enables Zecman, a 1978 graduate of Belleville High School, to wrap up his personal affairs before leaving home.

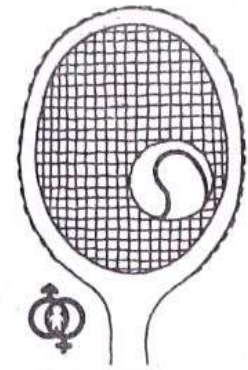

Zecman will enter the Regular Air Force on June 1. Following graduation from the six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training in the mechanical aptitude area and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Airman Donald W. Pepper Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Pepper of 29526

Sibley, Romulus, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft environmental systems mechanic course at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Graduates of the course learned how to install and repair aircraft air conditioning, heating and related systems, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Pepper will now serve at Homestead Air Force Base, Fla.

MRS. MORSE

Transfer from Regional

Celia Morse is new Belleville librarian

"A really pleasing place to work, a nice atmosphere without an institutional feeling," is the way Celia Morse, the new head librarian at the Fred C. Fischer Library in Belleville, describes her feelings about her new surroundings, adding that she really likes the small-town friendliness.

A native of Detroit who grew up in Dearborn Heights, Mrs. Morse lives in Plymouth with her psychologist husband, B. T. Morse, a drug abuse counselor at DEHOCO.

Mrs. Morse, who began her duties March 2 following the retirement of Mrs. Helen McClatchey, was transferred from the Wayne County Regional Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped at the Wayne County Service Center where she served as assistant librarian for six months.

Prior to her Wayne duties she worked as head librarian at the Riverview Library for 15 months and had been a library aide for 3½ years at the Plymouth Library.

She also taught English parttime for four years at Wayne State University where she earned a master's degree in the subject. Her M.A. in library science came from the University of Michigan.

As for hobbies or avocations, reading, of course, took precedence. But needlework, embroidery, cross country skiing, biking and camping were also on the list of how she likes to spend her time off from the Belleville Library.

Past Matrons gather for St. Pat luncheon

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING 699-4021

The March meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, O.E.S., was held at the home of Past Matron Frances McAtee with 16 members present.

A St. Patrick's Day luncheon was served at tables decorated with the appropriate colors.

The president Pauline Quinley conducted a short business meeting with Eva Luper, Chaplain, leading the devotions. The hostess then presented a paper and pencil game with answers using the word green. Lucky winners were Ada Sager and Pauline Quinley.

The April 2 meeting will be held at the First United Methodist Church with Pauline Quinley hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton were dinner guests March 8 of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Munce, at Brighton. The occasion was in celebration of the 13th birthday of their grandson, Hugh Munce.

Bernard and Elsie Groh of Griffin, Ga.

were recent guests of their aunt, Mrs. Ruth Roulo of Liberty Street.

Frances Korgal entertained at dinner March 8 in celebration of the birthdays of three granddaughters. Honored guests were 4-year-old Katherine Schultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schultz; 9-year-old Stacy and 11-year-old Amy Korgal, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Korgal.

Also present were aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Golka, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wenderski of Detroit.

A friend, Miss Mildred Mackey of Northville was a Monday evening guest of Mrs. Dorothy Kellas.

Lynn Saunders and son, Jeffry, of Clinton Township, were weekend guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Clayton Saunders.

Luncheon guests recently at the home of Mrs. Muriel Smith were relatives from Fowlerville, Mrs. Russell Benjamin and Mrs. Cecil Benjamin.

Attending a Grand Reception and dinner at Trenton Assembly No. 73, Order of Rainbow for girls, were several members of Belleville Assembly No. 49 and several board members. The Grand Officers exemplified the degrees.

A memorial service was held in Wayne on March 10 for Mrs. Robert (Dawn) Kenyon, a one-time resident of Harmony Lane, who passed away recently in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Harris and daughter Janet returned home recently after a week in California. They visited Anaheim, Disney World and other interesting places in that vicinity and also spent a day at the famous Redwoods in the northern part of the state.

Altar date set

Mary Ellen Gerulski of Bay City and Brian L. Sedlacek of Belleville, both students at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, are engaged and making plans for an August 8 wedding in Bay City. Parents of the young couple are Paul and Darlene Gerulski of 3200 Fisher Rd., Bay City, and George and Helen Sedlacek of 46940 Old Denton Rd., Belleville.

Career Path Planning seminar set at YWCA

A Career Path Planning Seminar will be presented at the YWCA of Western Wayne County, 26279 Michigan Ave., Inkster, March 28 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The Seminar is designed to assist job hunters and career changers achieve specific training objectives. Included will be training to provide the participants with an inventory of their marketable job skills and a concrete plan for putting these skills to use. Participants will have individual help in defining a realistic career path.

Leading the seminar will be Carolyn

Laich, Training Consultant for Career Growth and Research Center, Inc. in Southfield. Ms. Laich has a broad background in leading seminars of this type and has extensive training in Career Path Planning. She has served on staff in the Cooperative Education Department and the Counseling Center at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The Seminar fee is $30 per person which includes printed hand-out material, a demi-lunch and a follow-up appointment with Ms. Laich or one of her assistants. To register call Leslie Frederick at the YWCA, 561-4110.

New on the scene...

JENNIFER LEE WOJIE

A petite feminine touch has been added to the Chester Wojie home at 46942 Lauren Ct., Belleville, and her name is Jennifer Lee.

Making her debut at 6:26 p.m. Feb. 20 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, the newcomer weighed 6 lbs.-1 oz. And during these pre-spring days she's being looked in on by two big brothers, Cameron, who's 4-years-old, and Eric, 14 months.

Jennifer, whose mother is the former Laurie Schaerer, is the first granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wojie Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. James Schaerer, all of Belleville. A great-grandfather, Orman Reynolds, also resides in Belleville.

ADAM JOHN VOIGT

"Adam John" is the title give the newest member of the Voigt family which resides at 215 Second St., Belleville. Delivery of the 8 lb.-1 oz. infant, who measured 21 inches, was made at 3:30 p.m. March 2 at Beyer Memorial Hospital.

His parents, Kenn and Peggy Voigt, have added a new baby book to their collection, the others belonging to Matthew, who's 3½-years-old, and Sarah, who's 13 months.

The children's grandparents are Tom and Shirley Books of Belleville and Lloyd and Dorothy Voigt of Loveland, Col. Two maternal great-grandmothers adding to their family trees, are Mrs. Harold Books of Mishawaka, Ind. and Mrs. John Hambright of South Bend, Ind.

Peggy is currently on leave from her duties at North Junior High School where she teaches mathematics and science.

TRAVIS GRAHAM STABNAU

From New Boston comes word of the birth of a baby boy, their third son, to Mr. and Mrs. Craig Stabnau of 19580 Wahrman Road, formerly of Belleville.

"Travis Graham" is the label given the young man who put in his appearance at 11:01 a.m. March 9 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The 7 lb.-5 oz. infant is the future playmate of Erik Stabnau, who'll have his eighth birthday March 28, and Jared Stabnau, who recently turned five.

The boys' grandparents, all Belleville residents, are Harvey and Elaine Stabnau of South Biggs Street and Jean Schell of South Service Drive.

Great-grandparent honors go to Mr. and Mrs. William Graham of Belleville and Mrs. Florence Burgess of Ripley, N.Y.

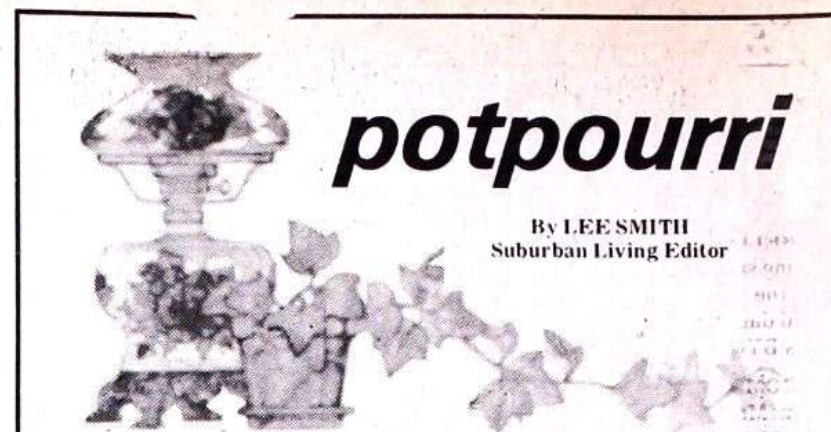

Deaths of children under five from aspirin poisoning alone have dropped 72 percent since these child-resistant closures (CRCs) were required by Federal ruling in 1972.

The Environmental Protection Agency has now passed a regulation requiring child-resistant packaging for many insecticides, rat poisons, pool chemicals, weed killers and disinfectants used around the home.

All this is good news to a growing number of concerned Americans as the country prepares to observe National Poison Prevention Week from March 15 to 21.

The CMA offers these suggestions on how to remove CRCs:

* Read the directions for opening which are printed or embossed on each cap. Think about it for a moment so that

By LEE SMITH Suburban Living Editor

When women get together socially, be it for lunch, a shower or card party, it isn't always their children or grandchildren that get discussed, contrary to popular opinion. We DO inquire about each others' families (and, of course, there's usually one in a bunch that goes a bit overboard) but we also are known to delve into such surprisingly literate subjects as politics, religion, books, and the economy. And there've been some pretty hot debates on the former two.

We're mighty good at talking turkey — or pot roast or meatloaf or lamb chops also. Those distaff get-togethers not only lead to recommendations for good reading; what to see at the Fisher, Masonic or Power Center; where to find a good bargain or what new restaurant has opened in the area, but also include topics with which we gals deal day-in-and-day-out — food, cooking, baking, economizing.

And this is when, if you're among those who really dig the microwave, wok, crockpot, blender and those old stand-bys, the range, oven and freezer, you pay attention! If one of your pals is describing a new dish or dessert, ask for the recipe. If you're savoring the casserole and unique new salad your hostess has just served, get her aside later and ask for the recipe.

There are very few culinary buffs who won't be flattered and happy to share their findings. (Yes, I know — there can be a couple of stinkers who either beat-about-the-bush making excuses and even some who'll change or leave out the essentials.) But the majority of us who truly enjoy the kitchen-dining scene and have appreciated the many additions to our recipe files courtesy our peers, feel it one of the nicest of compliments to be asked for our recipes.

Here's the latest to be tucked behind the "meats-poultry" division in my shoebox file. It was served at a recent luncheon and is absolutely delicious! (And was happily distributed for all of us to copy.)

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Place a 2½ lb. chicken in a kettle and just barely cover with water. Bring to boil, skim, and cook slowly until tender. Remove from broth and cool. Bone and cut into small pieces.

Cook a 12 oz. package of thin spaghetti, broken into 1-inch pieces, in broth from chicken until tender. Remove from stove.

Chop 2 cups celery, 1 cup green pepper, 1 onion and cook in small amount of water just 'til tender. Then add vegetables, water and all, to chicken broth and spaghetti.

Add 1 can pimiento, cut up; 1 can cream of chicken soup, 1 can cream of mushroom soup (no water) and 1 lb. grated cheddar cheese, keeping out enough to sprinkle on top.

Cook in 350 degree oven until mixture bubbles and cheese on top is nicely melted.

This can be made ahead and kept in the refrigerator after it is cooled. Just reheat until bubbly.

It's super!

HERE'S STILL MORE on your "Average American" from the Feinsilber-Mead reference book, this time telling that on an average day in America:

Schoolchildren ride 12,720,000 miles on school buses.

Ten thousand people take their first airplane ride.

Some 4,109 people parachute from airplanes for the fun of it.

Taxis take 1,169,863 people to their destinations.

Busses carry 11,419,178 people to their stops and subways, elevateds and commuter trains carry 3,943,000 workers, shoppers and travelers. Another 147,671 ride a trolley.

The average motorist drives 24 miles.

Rural mail carriers, 48,800 of 'em, drive 2.2 million miles.

Twenty-eight mail carriers are bitten by dogs.

The U.S. Postal Service sells 90 million stamps, handles 320 million pieces of mail and delivers 833,000 packages.

ON THE SAME DAY...

...some 1,253 people are arrested on marijuana charges.

Some 180 women are raped, 53 people are murdered, 1,108 people are robbed and 2,618 cars are stolen.

Drunk drivers do $18 million worth of damage.

Some 2,740 kids run away from home; 2,740 teenagers get pregnant (almost sounds as if that's why they're running away from home) and of the 9,077 babies born each day, 1,282 of them are illegitimate.

Old Army men, those who still either chuckle or regurge at the thought of S.O.S., an Army staple, will be unbelieving when they read that the U. S. Army (yes, OUR army) captured the grand prize in 1978 and 1979 at the National Culinary Arts Salon and Exhibition.

And that in 1980 the Army team took 71 prizes out of the 80 exhibits with such exotic dishes as spring chicken garnished with quail and galantine of duck.

I know, I know — you G.I.'s out there are wondering what kind of nightmare or hallucinations I'm having. None whatsoever! This comes from the U. S. Army Quartermaster School at Fort Lee, Va.

To you soldiers of yesterday, learning to cook in the Army probably was akin to refining your golf swing in a rock garden. At best, you remember Army chow only as being very forgettable.

"But," says Major J. J. Bannister, chief of the Culinary Skills Division at Fort Lee, "today we have a highly developed training system in the Army and the food, I think, is quite good."

Seven years ago the Army underwent a comprehensive food service review. Aware of the high standards of the British Army Catering Corps, it was decided that the best way to get the Army's program off the ground was to enlist the aid of the British. So an exchange program was begun and Bannister is now the fourth British officer to make his way to the Virginia Fort.

At the school, students advance at their own pace and are taught everything from frying chicken to concocting a blueberry pie in small "classrooms" with instructors.

Soldiers may return to Fort Lee for advanced cooking courses after working at an Army post for several years. They are also eligible to qualify for a Department of Labor Apprenticeship and Training certificate.

Sadly, today's soldier will probably wonder what those veterans are talking about when they equate S.O.S. with food — what, they'll wonder, does Morse code have to do with army "vittles"?

ITEMS FOR A LULL IN THE CONVERSATION...

You've got a big mouth! The Statue of Liberty's mouth is not terribly lady-like; it's three feet wide!

Happy birthday to all of us! Everyone shares his birthday with at least nine million other people.

They want something to laugh at, too! The Lincoln Park Zoo in Chicago once tried using 1-way glass in the monkey house so that people could see in but the animals couldn't see out. The monkeys soon became despondent but regained their lively spirits when the glass was removed.

The whole ball of wax. Madame Tussaud, proprietress of the famous wax museum, learned wax modeling when she was just six years old.

Everything's comin' up violets. In Elizabethan England, violets were eaten raw with onions and lettuce or mixed in broth.

And without Orville Redenbacher, too! Popcorn was introduced to the English colonists at their first Thanksgiving dinner on Feb. 22, 1630, by Quadeaquina, brother of Indian Chief Massasoit.

A pretty sappy situation. As many as 50 gallons of maple sap are needed to make a single gallon of maple syrup.

* Calmly proceed to remove the cap. Haste or rigorous pulling the wrong way will thwart your efforts—that's why they're safe for youngsters.

* If the cap doesn't open the first time, try again. Patience and following directions will do it.

The association offers these further safety measures: store all potentially harmful materials beyond a child's reach; never switch medicines or potentially dangerous household products into unmarked containers that don't have CRCs; never refer to medicine as "candy" to get a child to take the recommended dosage.

It's National Poison Prevention Week

An autumn wedding is being planned by Simone Suzanne Paich of Maybee and Larry Dennis Pinter of Belleville. Their November 7 ceremony will be held in Ypsilanti.

The bride-elect, a 1980 graduate of Dundee High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Paich of 11991 Ostrander Rd., Maybee, and Mr. and Mrs. David Dufford of 11500 Sidney St., Romulus.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pinter Sr. of 6830 Rawsonville Rd., Belleville, her fiancé graduated from Lincoln High School in 1978 and is now working in the family business, Pinter's Greenhouse, Inc. on Rawsonville Road.

FICTION

"Blood and Dreams" by Leslie Waller. The epic story of a family born to make history in the city they claimed as their own--New Orleans.
"Something of the Night" by Mary McMullen. A plea from his 6-year-old son brings Kells Cavanaugh halfway around the world to the rescue, only to find the boy happily playing. He tries to rationalize the pleas as an obvious bid for attention, a line of thinking that breaks down when someone turns up with a bullet in the back.

"Aztec" by Gary Jennings. Here is the extraordinary story of the last and greatest native civilization of North America, at the very height of its magnificence.

HOW-TO GUIDES

"The Handbook of Doll Repair and Restoration" by Marty Westfall. A first in its completeness and detail for treating the ills of the thousands of old and collectible dolls that do not qualify as unique museum artifacts.

"Reupholstering at Home" by Peter Nesovich. Step-by-step instructions with clear, detailed photographs on how to rebuild that dilapidated, old chair or sofa to look like new.

"The How-To Book of Interior Walls" by Don Geary. This book teaches you, with step-by-step instructions and detailed illustrations, how to create the effect you want, on any kind of wall surface. There are complete tools and materials lists, precise directions on how to plan each project, plenty of information on wall maintenance, even a section on wall remodeling.

HEALTH, MEDICINE
"Woman's Day Book of Family Medical Questions" by John G. Deaton. This book has been written and organized with your family in mind. It is presented in language that is clear and easily understood. The questions and answers are direct and to the point. The organization and extensive index make it easy to use whether you need general information or a specific answer to an urgent medical problem.

"Everybody's Fitness Book" by Gordon Stewart. Here is a fresh, no nonsense approach to getting and staying fit, one that avoids the fads and the gimmicks and recognizes that the demanding principles of athletic training are unnecessary for the average adult striving for basic fitness and, in some cases, can be harmful.

HISTORY, GEOGRAPHY
"The Dark Ages" by

Isaac Asimov. Relates the story of the Germanic invasion and settlement of Western Europe, from the first Cimbri migration around 100 B.C. to the beginning of the Middle Ages at about 1000 A.D.

"Water Trails West" by western writers of America. The colorful story of the role of America's rivers, lakes and canals in the settlement of the West. Illustrated with over 150 rare photos.
"Famous Land Battles, from Agincourt to the Six-Day War" by Richard Humble. An in-depth look at 18 of the world's most celebrated victories in the history of pand warfare.

Short Subjects

Carrots are good right now, especially when they're glazed with pineapple. Cut a pound of carrots in strips (2 1/2 x 1/4"); cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and set aside. Combine one-fourth cup firmly packed brown sugar, three tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon each salt and grated orange peel with a can (8 1/4 oz.) of drained, crushed pineapple, in a skillet. Heat to boiling, then add carrots, stirring occasionally until glazed and heated through, about 5 minutes. You'll have servings for four people.

Come in from the cold and have a bowl of thick, hot, creamy Chicken Rice Soup: Combine one can (11 oz.) condensed tomato rice soup with a can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed cream of chicken soup and one-half teaspoon dry mustard in a two-quart saucepan. Gradually stir in two and two-thirds cups milk, one-fourth cup chopped onion and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Heat to serving temperature; remove from heat and mix in one cup (4 oz.) shredded Brick cheese. Serve at once. (Yield: 5 1/2 cups).

FREE INFORMATION ON BEDWETTING

"Bedwetting is Serious and Harmful..."

If you have a bedwetter in your home, I strongly urge you to take steps at once to end it. The correction of bedwetting is an important mental health aid. It is very harmful to the child, distressing to the parents and can lead to very serious complications later on in life. Don't be blind to this problem no matter what you have been told by anyone else. Do something about it and do it now.

Joseph G. Molner, M.D.,

BEDWETTING IS CORRECTABLE

Many procedures such as restricting liquids, taking a child to the bathroom on a schedule, scolding, etc. do not end bedwetting. It can be stopped as early as 3 years of age. It should definitely be stopped before school age.

For the same reasons you would not think of waiting for your child to outgrow diapers, you also should not wait for your child to outgrow bedwetting. Millions of adults never outgrow it.

Dennis L. Hunter, Ph.D.

Good news for Canton Township

In an era of never-ending taxes, there comes a breath of fresh relief from Canton that supervisor James Poole intends to decrease taxes by a half-mill next year.

Now, we will all agree that a half-mill (a mill is $1 per $1,000 in assessed property evaluation) isn't much. But it is a start. For as long as we can remember, all we have heard is we need more and more for local, county, state and federal governments.

And the time appeared to be approaching when instead of receiving a paycheck at the end of the week — and that's if you're one of the fortunates who are employed — that the entire paycheck would be scooped up by the tax-collectors.

Everybody knows you need money to run government. However, no one really knows just how much is enough. The truth is government, which exists to serve us, is now the master — and we have to provide evidence each April that we are paupers or suffer the consequences of tax review.

It isn't right. We all know that. But the name of the game now is to find a way to cheat the government because we know it is cheating us by not letting us keep some of the money we earned to buy the food and clothing for our family.

We welcome the news from Canton. We hope that it "catches on" and reverses a trend. Tax cuts and government restraint in spending have been long overdue.

Spring is here...?

For awhile there we didn't think Spring would arrive. But, on Friday, according to the calendar it's really Spring. Who are we kidding?

We haven't seen our first Robin. The sun hides and the buds refuse to burst — and the snow Mother Nature left for us on Tuesday continues to remind us that she and not the calendar rules, no matter how fickle she is.

But then why not think positive? If the calendar makers say it's Spring, then how can we deny it. After all, Spring or Summer or Fall and Winter are just figments of our imagination.

Banish winter from our thoughts and mind. Forget the ice and the snow. Leave it all behind us.

After all aren't Sparky and the Tigers heading up North soon?

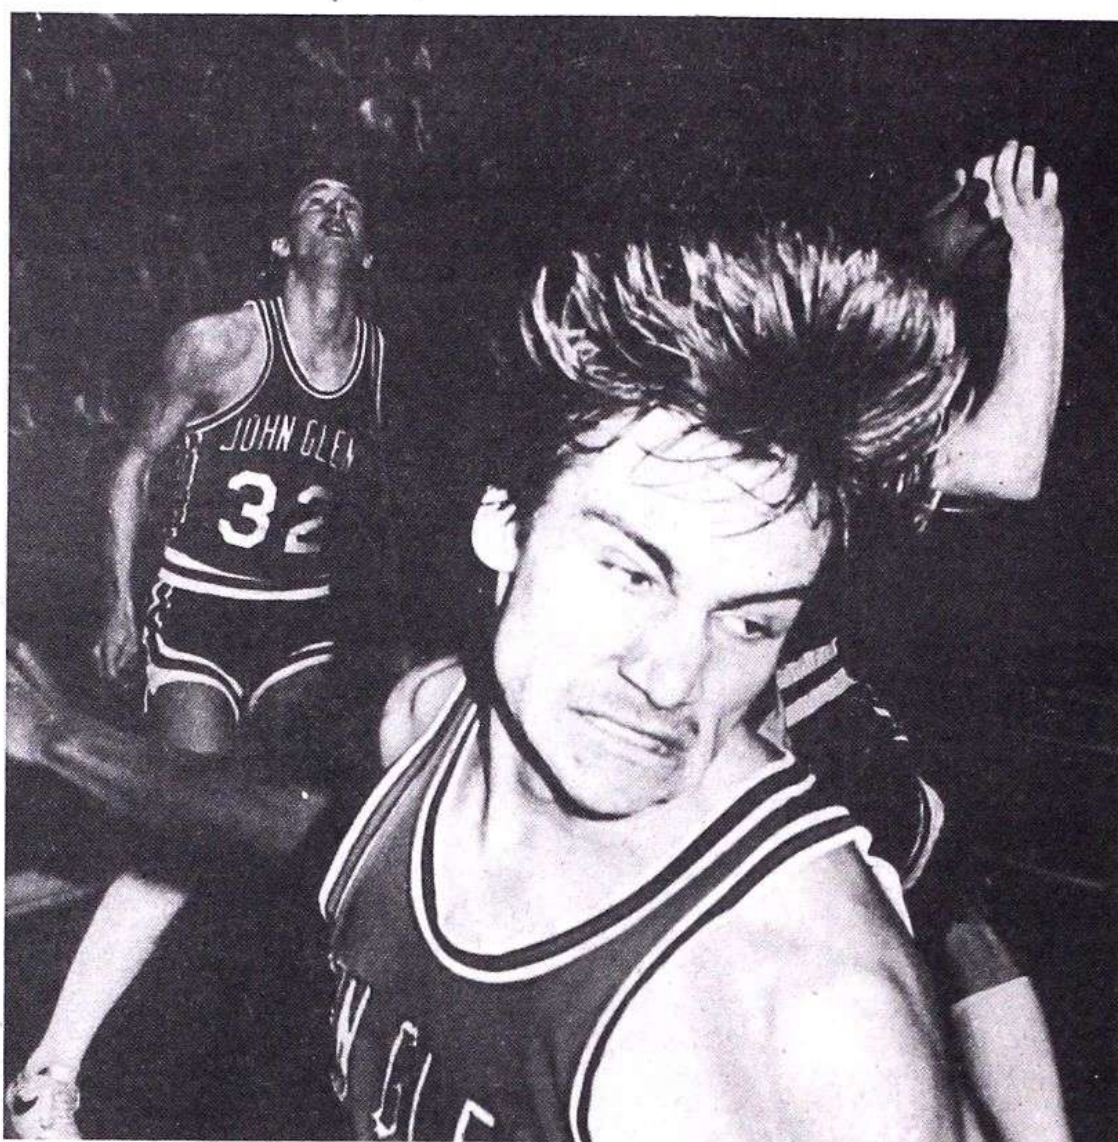

And that is the surest sign of Spring.

My personal experiences with cable TV firms

I have followed with much interest the recent Westland Cable TV election and would like to provide you and your readers with a view of cable from outside of Michigan.

First of all I am a former resident of both Wayne and Westland who was forced to relocate to a small town in New Jersey in 1975. While I was in this area I was active in community affairs and served on several local committees. When I found myself in New Jersey I decided to once again become involved in community affairs. In 1977 my adopted town decided to try and get cable TV into the community and long before it was generally practiced we formed a committee to look into cable and to invite companies to submit proposals.

It was not easy then. When many companies were interested in building cable systems in the larger towns, few were much interested in the less profitable communities with only 2-4,000 homes. But after much work and many letters we were able to get three cable companies to send us proposals.

After we received the proposals we thought we understood the cable business, one of the three companies decided to withdraw from consideration and nearly five months had passed.

But still believing that our new knowledge would result in a better cable system, we sought to locate a company to replace the one that had quit. I want to make it clear here that I believed then and still believe that my cable committee was dedicated to its job.

Well, we never did find another company to offer us a proposal and by this time, nearly a year had passed since we were asked to recommend a cable company to the community.

Deciding to select from the two companies left, we scheduled a meeting to pick the company we would recommend to the city fathers. At that meeting, the whole question of cable was again confused when one of the two companies told us they would have to raise the rates they had quoted in the proposal.

While they tried to tell us that the increased rates were necessary, the other company told us they were not, and since we were interested in the best deal we could get, we recommended and the city granted its franchise to the first company offering the lower rates.

Well we relearned a lesson. A contract or agreement is only as good as the people you make it with. For over a year we waited for the cable system to be built, but it never was. To top it off, the company we gave the contract to came back to the city and said it could not build the system without increased rates. When we tried to ask the first company to come back and offer us a proposal again, they refused, so we were stuck with a company who had lied to us, and had misled us.

Today we have the cable system built, but we have had to agree to a second rate increase this year.

I would like to just remind the citizens of Westland that the cheapest job is not the best, and that a company with the honesty to tell you of an impending rate increase, is a company most likely to be honest with you in other areas as well.

I would recommend to any elected or appointed official who is in the process of negotiating a contract of any kind, but especially a cable TV contract, that they should first know and trust the people who are making the promises because it is those people who will either deliver or not deliver.

I'm sorry this note is so long but I think it is important for the residents of both Wayne and Westland and the area to get a good cable system for their towns. And the best way to do that is to give the contract to people and not a company like we did.

MRS. JAMES K. RESTON

Former resident of Wayne and Westland who for the past several weeks have been visiting my parents who live in Belleville.

Death of a friend

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

When a friend dies, a part of you dies with him.

"But you always have to remember," said Jak Warren, "that death is not the end, it's sort of a new beginning."

And Warren, who was rich in vocabulary and lean in criticism, for years would remind me that "the responsibility of a writer is to communicate on a level that people would understand. If you write above or beneath an individual, you will soon perish."

At 44, this scholarly person is dead. And this area has lost an articulate spokesman for high school athletics, a friend who would be embarrassed by this column — "because you should save the space for people who are worthy of it."

It seems that Jak Warren has always been in these parts. That, of course, is not true. He was from the east, from Maine and he brought to Wayne and the area a deep respect for "exactness in what you do."

In fact, he began taking notes on Wayne Memorial's wrestling teams — "covering them" — as we would say in this business and he became so knowledgeable about the sport, and so accurate that the Michigan High School Athletic Association eventually invited him to become the official scorer for the state championships.

Although he remained a staunch supporter of Wayne Memorial's wrestling team, most of the coaches across the state of Michigan would contact him for facts and figures about prep teams and wrestlers.

"He was a perfectionist," said John Wood, Wayne Memorial wrestling coach. "A guy like that can't be replaced. They are rare because they contribute to what you're doing — to society — and ask for little in return."

"I can truly say that this entire state, and all of the athletes and coaches have lost a tremendous friend," Wood continued. "I'm really lost for words."

Most of the other coaches in the area were also shocked.

Sometimes you have to wonder, one of the coaches said. You read about these convicted criminals who continue to rob, rape, have nothing to contribute to society and they continue to plague mankind. But they're allowed to live. Here was a man, liked and loved by all of us and he's dead in the prime of his life.

Warren was a "doer" — I personally can attest to that.

A few years ago I informed him that I was seeking employment elsewhere because I didn't like the direction in which this newspaper was going at the time. He looked at me and said: "I never thought you were a quitter. If you don't like something, then you work to bring change about — you don't run from it. We're men — not animals."

And then there was the time when the former owners of this chain wanted to abolish the sports section and lay this writer off.

"Oh, no they won't," Jak said. "We need sports and we need you, even though I think you're a lousy writer."

Unbeknownst to me, Warren organized a telephone campaign and before he and his group were through, some 300 subscribers to this newspaper had cancelled their subscriptions.

I was "called on the carpet" for that campaign.

But I wasn't laid off.

I'm still here. I'm just sorry Jak isn't.

How to avoid the common 'clod'

When I was a young kid I never missed a Saturday Matinee.

I liked the war stories, the spy stories, the dog stories, the Three Stooges—I even liked the musicals.

But most of all, I loved the love stories.

I know now there's something definitely masochistic about a person who would go to a Saturday Matinee to see a love story. The thing was, with a quarter I could pay my admission, buy two boxes of Jujubes and still have three cents left over. It was a deal I couldn't pass up.

But about the love stories: I used to pray the lovers would hold off on their kissing until the kids behind me got up and went to the bathroom. Otherwise they would cover their eyes and yell, "Ooh, yuck!" I hated those kids behind me. So why didn't I move? Because the theater was filled with kids like the kids behind me. They went to see the love stories so they could yell, "Ooh, yuck!" when the kissing started.

And now, though they've added a few words to their vocabularies, the kids behind me have grown into the adults behind me. There's just no getting away from them.

And now, though they've added a few words to their vocabularies, the kids behind me have grown into the adults behind me. There's just no getting away from them.

I don't know, maybe it's just me. I've never been able to just watch a movie—I have to get right into it. No matter where the characters are — on land, on the sea or in the air — I'm right there with them, getting into the action. That's why I couldn't see "The Deer Hunter" or "Apocalypse Now". I could never have survived the Vietnam War.

So anyway, a couple of years ago, when "The Turning Point" came out, I knew this was a "Total Immersion" film, and I went to see it alone. Only I wasn't alone — there were 749 other people there and I was lucky to get a seat.

Lucky in the sense that I had somewhere to sit, that is. There were two women behind me chattering a mile a minute, and I thought, all right, ladies, get it all out so you can shut up when the movie comes on. I don't think they ever knew when the movie started. By the time that gorgeous movie was over, I knew everything there was to know about.

Mikhail Baryshnikov. ("Isn't he the one who defected? His mother's still there, you know. Won't even let her come to see him")

"God! Did you see that? He must of jumped 10 feet in the air!"

"Trick photography, I bet."

"Naw, can't be. He wouldn't be where he is today..."

Ann Bancroft. ("Who's that funny looking guy she's married to?")

"I don't know — Mel something-or-other."

"Oh, yeah. Can you imagine? Beautiful girl like her? Well, it takes all kinds..."

Shirley McLain. (Well, whadaya know — her crinkles are turning to wrinkles...)

"Well it's no wonder — look at the life she leads. Leaving her husband to raise that little girl..."

"I never liked her anyway..."

Well, you get the picture. I try so hard to avoid those people. I see movies two months after everyone else. I go to the early shows early in the week. I inspect people very carefully before I sit down.

Do they or don't they?

I should realize by now that I have this curse on me. Wherever I go, they go. Last week, for instance, a friend and I went to see "Ordinary People". We deliberately waited this long, thinking everybody should have seen it by now and we would have the theater to ourselves. We were lucky to get a seat.

And right behind us was the kid from the matinee, all grown up (In body, in body). We knew we were in trouble when the kid said, "This better be good. I don't see why you didn't want to see 'Popeye'." Suffice it to say he went from bad to worse. Halfway through the movie, he yelled, "When the Hell's this movie going to start? I feel like I been sittin' here for five hours already and nothin's happened!"

"Ordinary People" is that kind of a movie. No sex, no violence, little action. It's the story of a teenager who takes the blame for his super-jock brother's drowning and tries to kill himself. He has to deal with a cold mother who loved the drowned brother better and can't forgive the boy for getting blood all over the place when he slashes his wrists. His father is loving but ineffectual, his psychiatrist is flaky but caring, his friends at school are a little afraid of him and his best friend kills herself after telling him they're going to make it.

There is a powerful scene toward the end, where the mother struggles with herself as she packs to leave the boy and his father. The scene is crucial toward understanding the woman, and is made all the more powerful by the fact that she never says a word, but communicates her anguish through facial expressions. In the midst of it, the clod behind us says (loudly), "Will someone please tell me why she has six pockets on her robe?"

Kill, gladly kill! Except, strangely enough, on one — not me, not my friend not a person around him — ever said a word to him — even though he ruined the movie for all of us. Why didn't we tell the creep to shut up? Fear of offending? Who were we going to offend? The offender?

What happens to people when they enter a darkened theater? Do they think they are the only ones in there? Do they think other people can't hear them? And why do obviously insensitive people go to see sensitive movies? Are they still caught up in the "Ooh, yuck!" syndrome?

And where are the managers when all this is going on? The other night our daughters went to see "American Pop", another movie that requires you to get into it. My curse must have rubbed off on them, because in the audience was a guy who was high or drunk or both.

At any rate, he talked and shouted throughout the entire movie, several times standing up and shouting, "C'mon everybody — Rock n' Roll lives! Rock n' Roll lives! Rock n' Roll Lives." Pretty soon, it got to be a shouting match between the guy and the audience. Now, mind you, this went on throughout the entire movie, but on one came to escort him out until minutes before the closing credits.

Shouldn't part of the price of admission be a guarantee that you can watch the movie of your choice in peace and quiet? And if it doesn't happen, shouldn't you be entitled to your money back? Maybe that's the answer. If it isn't, there's only one other alternative for the true movie lover.

It's called Betamax.

Education and educators

EDITOR — I have been following the letters concerning the Wayne-Westland educational system and the lack of quality in it. I applaud Carol Schlamb for her letter.

It isn't easy to face such a crisis with a sense of humor. She complained we have become the educators at the request of those we hire to do the job.

These "teachers" point to their college degrees and experience when demanding better pay; but, without any questions about our qualifications, expect us to do a great part of their job.

Let's examine more closely the statement, "we have become the educators."

First, we have the "Bucket Brigade". This is a group of volunteer adults who are asked to go into the school and teach some of our children concepts they are having trouble with.

The only qualification is the volunteer must be "interested in children". There is no screening, no testing, no other requirements, and very little supervision — if any.

Second, there is the volunteer parent who goes into the classroom to help the "teacher". She is asked to teach at learning centers, help with testing and recording scores, grade papers, run off dittos, and help set up projects and clean up afterward.

Again there are no requirements. Some classrooms are lucky enough to have a para-professional. She does the same things the volunteer parent does. The only difference is she gets paid, and has access to confidential information.

With so much help, you can assume the teacher is able to handle the rest of her job. Right? WRONG!

Now comes the non-volunteer parent. The one who is made to feel guilty is she doesn't have the time or ability to teach her children at home. So what if she works eight hours a day and has several children who all need help.

Virgie Mack said in her letter, "Your child needs all the support that he can get." She also points out, she "has always assisted her children with projects, listened to Dick and Jane, the multiplication tables, etc."

I don't hear any objections to assisting, supporting, or listening. The problem begins when we are asked to shoulder almost the entire burden of our children's formal education.

I have had to teach my children math, reading, history, and English. One of my sons came home from junior high and asked me to teach him a math concept. I told him to go to his teacher because it had been many years since I had used that certain concept. He already had gone to his teacher.

Instead of helping, she threatened him with extra assignments. When he reminded her she was supposed to teach, she replied that "No where in my contract does it say I must teach! I only have to supply the learning materials."

We are asked to foot the bill for the most modern equipment and supplies, well maintained buildings, small class loads, well paid teachers, and an over abundance of well paid administrators. Then we are asked to bring the education into the home because it doesn't "begin at 9 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m."

But even that is not enough. We are then asked to go into the schools and do the teachers work, or at least be silent while just anyone off the street comes in and works with our children.

I have known many of these volunteers, and have worked as one. While many of them are more capable than most of the teachers I have worked with, I resent the fact it is necessary — and that the teachers are paid for not doing it well.

There was a time when teachers were qualified, dedicated, hard working people to be respected. Now they tell us any one can teach. They break the law right in front of our children's faces as they strike, then cry they get no respect. They use the classroom, scare tactics, and threats to gain first contracts that will break the school district, and then the millages to cover the contracts.

Do you realize the lowest paid teacher (with tenure) in the Wayne/

Westland school district receives $16,555 for putting in approximately 6 hours a day 180 days a year? This breaks down to about $90 a day or $15 an hour. For what?!! Furnishing our children "learning materials" that we bought and paid for?

I could go on and on discussing our wonderful education system.

I haven't even mentioned the wasted dollars on programs that are of questionable merit, the sex movie that was shown my kindergarten child, or the violation of my children's rights. That will have to wait for another time.

George Abdo was 100 percent right when he said our children are being cheated, they are the losers and you and I have no control. If teachers had accountability colleges would not have to offer remedial reading.

And the state of Michigan would not be getting $127 million from the Federal government for remedial education.

And we would not be expected to do the teacher's work.

Girl Scout leader is lauded

EDITOR — Sometimes because we all become so busy with our own life we forget to thank the people who have done so much to lead us in the right direction — who have touched our life and given us such a great deal of their time and asked nothing in return except for us to be happy.

Our Girl Scout leader Linda (Vaden) Wickem has been the best leader we could ask for. She has been our friend along with her assistants, Virginia Thomas and Debbie Burrows. We have a heartfelt of memories to carry with us as we grow up.

Thank you, Linda Wickem for caring so much about us.

Newspapers' coverage hit

EDITOR — I have long been dissatisfied with my local newspaper and last week's issue and the coverage of Orlo Roberts' death have caused me to finally sit down and let you know how I feel.

What do I like about your paper? Not much! And I was particularly upset when you relegated Mr. Roberts' picture to page 2 in favor of a bunch of firehoses. A man of Mr. Roberts' distinction and involvement with his city deserved better than that.

Why was he not given a more prominent and more compassionate write-up? I couldn't help but compare his "obit" with the laudatory "editorial" you gave a certain Jane Ross. It's a shame that there was so little feeling given to Mr. Roberts. Here was a man of prominence and much admired in this and other communities and he is given so little recognition, not even a name under his picture!

That is my chief criticism at this time but I might as well add that Mr. Earl Bosteder, another well-known Belleville businessman, was also relegated to a second-class write-up. It's a shame you really don't care about the community you profess to represent.

There is much too much space given to sports in Wayne, Westland and other cities; it's rare to see pictures of Belleville sports events. And as for your ANP News Capsules, we in Belleville were (are) not all that interested in Westland, Inkster, Canton, Wayne and Inkster. We take a local paper to read local news and we can read about those other cities in our daily paper.

We do enjoy Lee Smith's "Potpourri" column, especially the book reviews and do miss Jim Bradley's column and his being assigned to Belleville. I had several conversations with Mr. Bradley when he was in our Belleville office and found him interested and mindful of what was happening in Belleville. I was sorry to see Sumpter is now his "beat" rather than Belleville.

Please try to give a little more thought when someone of Mr. Roberts' prominence passes away. He really deserved better from his hometown paper. I, for one, was very disappointed in your coverage.

More on cable TV

EDITOR — The mayor of Westland has said that since the cable system franchise was rejected by the voters, it was going to be placed on the back burner.

Since moving into Westland two years ago, all I heard was that the city would have a cable system by September of 1980. Now, it is March of 1981 and no cable system in sight for who knows how many months from now.

Other surrounding cities such as Dearborn will have a cable system hooked up next month and Garden City is looking into a system very seriously and will have one hooked up before Westland decides what it should do and decides to stop putting around.

Since the voters rejected the franchise, Mayor Taylor has said the city will be losing approximately 2 million dollars in revenue. But if the city was to lease the franchise, it will receive about $200,000 in revenue. The $200,000 is not the 2 million granted, but the additional $200,000 in revenue could be used for the city to help offset the expected $1.2 million budget deficit as of July 1, 1981.

In the meantime, channels 20 and 31 will be getting my $22.50 a month, the money the city could be getting for a cable system.

Face it, a cable system in Westland would attract people looking for housing because a cable system is the television of the future.

Thanks for Birthday cards

EDITOR — I wish to say, "Thank you" to all my friends, relatives and neighbors who remembered me on my 83rd birthday which was March 3rd.

I was overwhelmed by the lovely cards, the gifts and the flowers and candy and this, I hope, will be a little note of my appreciation.

It put joy and love into my heart. And may God bless all of you.

Sumpter rights being denied?

EDITOR — It comes as a tragic realization to the citizens of out Wayne County and specifically the citizens of Sumpter Township, that they are without representation on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The constitution guarantees the citizens of this community representation and these same citizens went to the polls with the assumption of choosing said representative.

It has recently become glaringly clear that the citizens of this community are either without representation or its representative has taken leave of his senses. This realization is by way of the T.V. editorial aired by the individual who we will at this time and forever more leave nameless. He has been masquerading as the County Commissioner charged with the representation of Sumpter Township.

Finding ourselves without representation, the only remaining responsible course is to take steps to assure that the views and needs of this community are communicated to your honorable body.

We, in the Western Wayne Communities and specifically the Township of Sumpter are subject to the same State Constitution as is your honorable body.

Pursuant to the same, are restricted to the revenues we are allowed to raise, but are guaranteed certain services intended to supplement the limited services we can individually offer our residents. Paramount among these is Police Protection.

There is no question as to whether or not the Wayne County Sheriff has an obligation for the protection of the health, safety and welfare of the Township of Sumpter, as our constitution clearly states same.

There is no question that the residents of Sumpter Township pay to the County taxes that are intended to defray the cost of same. It is, therefore, clear in the minds of the citizens of Sumpter Township that the County Sheriff is obligated to continue to provide services to our residents.

Ask Carol Premo

On the death of an infant

DEAR CAROL,

My sister's baby just died of meningitis.

The course of the illness was very fast and the child was dead. She really did not have time to realize how sick the baby was and he was dead.

Within minutes, she was bombarded with decisions to make about the funeral, etc. To top all of that, a bunch of the doctors wanted her to have an autopsy done on her baby. She said no. So they started carrying on about benefit to future children, to be sure of the cause of death.

I felt they were coming on too strong at a very bad time. She did agree to the autopsy. Now she feels she agreed to something that was possibly not really right — mutilation of her baby. She has started to have nightmares about cutting up babies.

What can I do or say to help her?

Brother

Dear Brother,

There is probably not much you can do to make her feel better. Some of her unhappiness is part of the normal mourning process. She needs support and understanding.

Assure her that she did the best thing possible under those circumstances. Perhaps valuable information was gained that will aid physicians in saving other children.

If her concerns and nightmares continue or worsen for any period of time, counseling should be suggested.

Most of all show love and support.

DEAR CAROL,

Three years ago I married a widower with two adolescent daughters.

I realized when we were married that there would be some problems. So, I tried not to change the house too much or too fast to minimize the "my mother used to do it this way" type problems.

A pattern seems to have developed during this time span. At first I thought it was just accidents, carelessness, etc., just about what you would expect from the oblivion of the teenage years. Then, I just thought I was being a bit paranoid or being nervous about being a stepmother.

Then when all of these "incidents" were looked at closely, the damage was usually to something that I brought with me, our wedding gifts or something I purchased for the house.

For instance, I started using tablecloths and cloth napkins. They picked at the hems of the napkins and cloths, shredding them, also they pulled at the decorative threads and ruined the patterns.

The list is endless. At this point I am tempted to store everything of mine and wait for them to get older and move out. Then I could bring these out for the enjoyment of myself and my husband.

What do you suggest I do.

Stepmother

Dear Stepmother,

It sounds like there is a lot of tension in your household. First of all I think you should go into some form of counseling to enable you to deal with some of the frustrations of your life.

Particularly, you should investigate the attitudes that lead you to say "just about what you would expect from the oblivion of the teenage years."

Secondly, I do not think you should just put everything away, as that is dealing with a symptom and not a cause.

The hostility will still be there, but will be redirected in other ways.

You need to improve on this relationship by opening the lines of communication between all four of you. Some form of family counseling might be beneficial.

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

"Is he often sick with the gooch?" I asked.

"Yep."

"Maybe you could come home and live with me and my family." I said tentatively, throwing all caution to the winds. The little boy could hardly have reached eight years, yet he bore the burden of a very old adult. As I asked the question he turned his big blue eyes full on me and observed me carefully, chewing on the stick with slow, deliberate chews.

"Nope, I reckon not," he said at last. "But we could take care of you, and love you and send you to school, and..."

"Effen I was to go with you who would put a blanket over Pa when he falls out of his car and can't git to the house for nothin'?" Effen I was to go with you who would feed old Belle and old Nellie? Nope somebody's got to do it, and I 'spect it's me."

I watches the little boy as he sat there chewing on his stick, his huge eyes looking into a somewhere I couldn't follow. I told him goodbye and a huge lump came into my throat and tears sprang to my eyes.

I started down the road and after a few steps I stopped and looked back. He was still sitting there. I waved and he raised a skinny little arm and waved back, and I was suddenly filled with awe, for that mite of humanity sitting on a mountain boulder seemed to grow before my eyes and fill the very sky, and I knew that he was as rugged as the boulder on which he was sitting, and as eternal as the mountain holding the boulder.

Reflections

Waif and tumbleweed

HEMET, CALIFORNIA — As the sun came peeping over the mountains this morning I took a walk. The fresh breeze caressed me and tiny little dogs rushed against their fences, barking themselves into a frenzy. The base of one mountain seemed to be but a few blocks from my starting point and I made the base of that mountain my destination.

Of course, the few blocks turned into a couple of miles and when I got there I found a winding road climbing that mountain and beckoning me on. Huge, rambling homes jutted out in a zig-zag fashion right up to the summit and scraggly desert brush crept from beneath huge boulders.

It was on that dusty road that I made my acquaintance with the tumbleweed, the fearsome monster of my childhood. I had just brought my gaze down from the mountain top when I saw tumbling towards me with wild abandon the biggest, the most fearsome tumbleweed of all.

I stopped and contemplated this rolling, mindless object and as I was trying to decide whether to step to the right and chance plunging down the mountain-side, or to the left and run into jagged boulders and maybe rattlesnakes a voice from above came sliding down.

"Thet tumbleweed ain't gonna hurt you." I looked up and perched on an overhanging boulder was a mite of humanity hardly bigger than the mosquito on the back of man's hand.

"Oh, I wasn't afraid of it," I answered.

"You sure acted like it," the little kid retorted. "Why doncha sit down and after a bit the ole' tumbleweed will just blow on down the hill."

I looked around for a place to sit, but found myself faced with fear that a rattlesnake might be lurking nearby.

"Aren't you afraid of rattlesnakes?" I asked looking up.

"Nope," he answered. "Tain't no rattlesnake can hurt me none. I'd just grab thet ole' rattler and twist its rattles right off it."

"Well, if one of them ole rattlers come along while I'm sitting here will you get rid of it?" I asked as I scrunched down on a boulder just beneath the swinging legs of my mighty little protector.

"Sure." I watched him as he swung his

"Where do you live?" I asked, observing that the ragged jeans, the tattered sweatshirt and the scuffed up tennis shoes precluded his being from one of the magnificent homes dotting the mountain side.

"Back there," he answered, jerking his thumb backwards. "Way back. Up the mountain."

"How did you get here?" I asked.

"On m' horse."

"Where's your horse?"

"Tethered back there a spell."

"Does your mother know where you are so early in the morning?" I asked with my motherly instincts rising all through me.

"I 'spect so, effen she can see down this fur. She's up there," and he pointed towards the blue sky.

"How about your father?" My heart was reaching out to this little fellow, wanting to reach out and hug him to me.

"He don't know nuthin' today. He ain't knowed much for the past several days."

"Is he ill?"

"I 'spect thet's what you'd call it. He's sick with the gooch."

Now I knew I wanted to do something about this little boy.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.)

Q — I was unable to use my VA education benefits before my time limit expired. How do I apply for an extension?

A — The extension of the delimiting date for education benefits can be granted to veterans who can prove they were unable to pursue a course of education because of a physical or mental handicap, not the result of the veteran's own willful misconduct, during the period of entitlement.

Q — What portion of a home loan does the Veterans Administration guarantee?

A — The VA will guarantee up to 60 percent of a loan provided it does not exceed the maximum guaranty entitlement available to the individual. The current maximum guaranty entitlement for homes is $27,500. The maximum for mobile homes is $20,000, not to exceed 50 percent of the loan.

Q — If a veteran qualifies for VA education benefits under the Post Vietnam Era Contributory Program, is there a time limit on when these benefits must be used?

A — Yes. No benefits are payable to a veteran beyond ten years following the date of last discharge or release from active duty.

'Stranger' from outer space

I'm a stranger from another planet And I have come here to observe. I've heard that Man has really got it And it's some thought for real concern. It seems he feels he's always given And getting nothing in return.

I think that I may have an answer — The words are full if it's your turn. We're on this trip of Life together. Why don't we show a better way? We could give each other laughter Instead of ways for them to pay.

Pass on Hope to one another. Wipe away the hurting tears. Thanking God we've got each other Gives true meaning why we're here.

Cradle dreams of one another Show Vision when there's none in sight. Try to fill those human longings And human Spirit wills to fight.

Now turn your head so they can see These gingle gifts are truly free. No need to be embarrassed For I am You and You are Me.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

What's the matter Ted Nugent?

TED NUGENT
"INTENSITIES IN 10 CITIES" (EPIC)

And if you think the title rhyme is bad, wait 'll you hear the record! Actually though, it's not all bad — not if you like the mindless dribble that Ted Nugent continues to casually pass off as music.

In what would have been a novel idea (had not Jackson Browne done it a few years back with "Running On Empty"), Ted has chosen a live setting — 10 of them, to be exact — to introduce new material, and as a special surprise, before most of the songs begin we get to hear the Nuge rave on in his own elementary fashion. Oh goody. It's a good thing too, because otherwise it'd be kind of hard to tell when one song ends and the next starts.

Musically, Ted Nugent songs are pretty much the same: start by playing these chords for a minute, rip off a guitar solo, and keep soloing while the rhythm guitarist holds it down. Only two songs stand out: "Jailbait," which is fairly interesting at first, though soon sinks to disgusting lows with lyrics like "Well, I don't care if you're just thirteen/You look too good to be true/I just know that you're probably clean/There's one little thing I got ta do to you."

Whatsamatter Ted, feeling those middle-age blues? The other song worth hearing is "The TNT Overture" which is the lyrical highlight of the LP (it's an instrumental), and features some of the most tasteful lead work Nugent's put down in years. It's proof the talent is still in there, though it rarely surfaces these days.

For someone who brags about his songwriting ability the way Nugent does (he claims to write new songs every day), his lyrics are as pitiful as any I've ever seen, so much so that I'm convinced the addition of the lyric sheet here is somebody's idea of a joke. Lest you think I'm being unfair to the man, check out the complete lyrics to "I Am A Predator":

"I am a predator
That's one thing for sure
I am a predator
You better lock your door."

Wow, that's really great. Almost as eloquent as "My Love Is Like A Tire Iron" or "The Flying Lip Lock." The latter is one of the two songs on the album that mention "Wango Tango," his last hit — which at least had some intended humor in it.

Even the classic "Land of A Thousand Dances" comes under the thumb of the self-titled Motor City Madman here, rendering it totally impotent. Speak — of such things, I wonder what Freud would have to say about lines like "Just watch me ignite/A molotov cocktail/I'm goin' off tonight," "I'm whippin' out my choppin' block," and "I'm on the run with a loaded gun/I've got a Smith & Wesson/I'm gonna take no prisoners."

Now, keeping in mind that Ted Nugent's audience is made up mostly from the age group 12-17, can you explain why so-called "indecent" groups like the Plasmatics are banned from playing clubs for 18-year olds and up, while Ted Nugent goes on "Dinah"? What could be more indecent than having a "hero" singing to his fans that he's got a loaded

Smith & Wesson (a gun, by the way — not cooking oil) and is going to "take no prisoners" (i.e. — kill them all.)?

The really sad part is that the Nuge's popularity continues to rise as the quality of his work declines. Nevertheless, I suppose a middle-aged man prancing around stage in a tattered loincloth, battering eardrums with the same old too-loud riffs he's used for years is some people's idea of fun. Not mine.

Hey Ted, here's a great idea for a song title: "Whatever Happened To Growin' Old Gracefully."

Allen play keeps audience laughing

By GAIL JORGENSEN
Special to Playtime

Axel McGee is just the kind of character we expect from Woody Allen.

"I was the only ambassador ever asked to leave the entire continent of Africa," he confesses.

"I was hung in effigy in Panama — by my own embassy."

And young McGee must now run the American embassy in a small Communist country when his father-the-ambassador is called away.

McGee is not exactly confident. "I'm competent between major international blunders," he concedes.

"But if there was a failure business, I'd own chain stores."

Woody Allen's comedy, "Don't Drink the Water," shows what happens when this diffident diplomat must handle a cold war crisis.

Some American tourists are accused by the Communists of being spies. They take refuge in the embassy, where McGee must help them escape from the country.

John Eastman peers through his horn-rimmed glasses and plays the part of young McGee as Woody would've done it. His fumbles and frustrations are predictable, but quite perfect for the part.

WWCT veteran Tobin Hissong gives us an amusing interlude when a blow on the head convinces him he's "both Wright brothers." And Mark Renfrow steals the show as Father Drobney, the scatter-brained priest who "had a hobby besides God" — magic.

Renfrow, a senior at Westland John Glenn High School, performs locally as a magician, and one of his doves "appeared" in the show too.

However, when I saw the show, the cast in general did not seem to be working together properly, and the timing was often poor. I attended the opening-night performance, though, and I expect that things will be smoother this weekend.

Fred Button as Walter Hollander, the New Jersey caterer suspected of spying, did not really rise to the potential of his part. My companion observed that Allen had probably written the role with a more-ethnic character in mind (the stereotyped "aggressive Jewish businessman," a favorite comedy target).

In his scenes with the gun at the end of the play, Button was quite hilarious; but his performance in the first act was stiff and seemed to need more flamboyance.

But despite these shortcomings, "Don't Drink the Water" is worth seeing. It's full of funny lines and situations, and we in the audience enjoyed ourselves thoroughly.

The comedy will be presented this Friday and Saturday evenings (March 20 and 21) at 8 p.m. at the John Glenn Auditorium. Tickets for adults are $3.50, and students and senior citizens are $2.50.

John Glenn High School is on Marquette just west of Wayne Road in Westland.

'Bloody Jack' coming

The Hilberry Repertory Company's world premiere production of "Bloody Jack," a Victorian thriller about Jack the Ripper, opens March 25 at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre, Cass and Hancock, Detroit.

Winner of the 1980 Nederlander Playwrit-ing Award, "Bloody Jack" takes the audience inside the home of Thaddeus Sargeant, a respected doctor living in the run down Whitechapel section of London's East End in October 1888. Sargeant has been working to solve the problems of crime and neglect in Whitechapel—problems that have come to a head with the killings of prostitutes by a shadowy figure known only as "Jack."

But shadowy figures lurk through the doctor's house and examining rooms as well. There is Stephen Barrows.

Largest home show featured at Cobo

Present or future homeowners looking for dream house ideas or ways to improve their current habitat will find all the answers under one roof at the 63rd annual Builders Home, Flower Furniture Show — through March 22, at Cobo Hall.

Sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM), the largest home show in the nation will bring over 200 exhibits to the seven acre area. Michigan retailers, manufacturers and public utilities feature all the latest products and services for the home. Several appliances and furnishings are making their first U.S. appearance in a consumer exposition.

Home entertainment is a prominent feature of the 1981 show, with the addition of a 10,000 square foot "Stereo Spectacular." Member-retailers of the Independent Audio Specialists of Michigan and selected manufacturers will captivate showgoers with demonstrations, seminars, and audio-visual presentations for all ages.

Outdoor furniture and sun decks compete with interior home furnishings, including the first modular solid pine furniture marketed in the Midwest. Energy-conscious homeowners can view the first nonvented fireplace, ideal for safe use in any room, and a new insulated garage door.

Detroit Edison and Consumers Power representatives will explain how visitors can increase the energy efficiency of their present homes. Solar heating displays will also abound, in response to the growing demand for alternative energy sources.

With each paid admission, visitors get one entry form to estimate the number of nails in the 29th annual "House of Nails" contest. A $20,000 grand prize will be awarded for the closest estimate, after the show closes. Advance sale tickets include a $1 saving plus two entry forms for the contest.

Steve Nardella Band rates among Ann Arbor's top acts

By JOHN SPELICH
Special to Playtime

Remember back in the fall when Playtime had the gall to intimate that Steve Nardella was not the same as he was before?

Remember the allegations that his attitude had changed, that he had become jaded? It was all a lie. You better believe Steve Nardella is back.

Nardella has been displaying his new found enthusiasm all over Ann Arbor in recent days. He opened for the Jerry Lee Lewis show back in February and last week he headlined a benefit at Rick's American Cafe in Ann Arbor. We caught up with his act again last Friday at Rick's.

In addition to maintaining some of his most popular numbers, such as "Rip It Up" and "Restless," Nardella has added quite a few new selections to the group's repertoire.

The lineup of the band — George Bedard on lead guitar, Mark "Mr. B." Braun on keyboards and Andy Conlin on drums — is completed with the addition of bassist Bob Radley, the new member of the group.

What more can be said about Nardella than what has been written in the past? His group is probably one of the hottest acts in Ann Arbor. For those who enjoy good, old-fashioned "rockabilly," Steve Nardella's band is the one to see.

Keep your eye on the Rick's American Cafe schedule for the next Nardella appearance.

Also coming up at Rick's are blues master Lonnie Brooks on March 21 and the happy 50s, 60s and 70s sounds of 1-2-3 Go! on March 22. For more information, call 996-2747.

8-11PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain)
GONE WITH THE WIND "Tara-boom-de-a" it's back: the stirring romantic story of the willful beauty Scarlett O'Hara (Vivien Leigh) and the dashing heroic Rhett Butler (Clark Gable). A tale of the Old South, the Civil War and Reconstruction. Leslie Howard, Olivia de Havilland also star with an outstanding supporting cast. A feast in two helpings: tonight and Tuesday (9:00-11:00PM).

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)
THE END Starring Burt Reynolds with Dom DeLuise, Sally Field,

Strother Martin, David Steinberg and Joanne Woodward. Burt directed this satirical comedy in which he stars as a philandering real estate promoter who discovers a lot about himself and those around him when he learns he may be nipped in the bud.

MON., MAR. 23

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)
JOE DANCER There may be a change in the title but it's for sure Robert Blake will star as J.D., a rugged private eye.

TUES., MAR. 24

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain)
GONE WITH THE WIND (Part 2) A special rebroadcast of this classic film based on the mammoth best seller by Margaret Mitchell. It has garnered Oscars and audiences and admiration. Clark Gable is Rhett Butler, Vivien Leigh the beautiful Scarlett O'Hara, Leslie Howard portrays Ashley Wilkes and Olivia de Havilland is Melanie. Plus a memorable supporting cast.

Recreation update given in Romulus

The Romulus Senior Center is planning a trip to Washington, D.C. for May 15-18.

Cost is $199.00 per person, which includes three full breakfasts, one full course prime rib dinner, tours of the capitol, all transportation and three nights' hotel accommodations. For reservations and information come in or call the senior center, 36515 Bibbins Street, Romulus (941-0666 ext. 257).

The Romulus Recreation Department is forming a joggers club. An organizational meeting will be held March 24 at 7 p.m. at the recreation office.

The Romulus floor hockey league opened its nine game season recently at Barth Elm. The inaugural game saw the Bob Hope's edge out Dunkin Donuts, 2-1. In the second game, it was the Red Wings over E & V Plastics, 7-2.

A youth softball coaches' meeting is scheduled at the recreation department office on Saturday.

March 20 is the deadline for all teams entered in any of the Romulus adult softball leagues to pay their $50 deposit.

The men's golf league will have its first get together on Saturday at 10 a.m. at the recreation office. Items to be discussed will include rule changes and trophy fees. The league has switched its date and location from Thursday evening at Willow to Wednesday evenings at Shady Hollow. New participants are welcome. (Men, ages 18 and up).

The recreation department is now accepting names of adults (men or women) who would like to play softball this year but are looking for a team to play with. A list will be made available to managers.

The Romulus Co-ed Volleyball League is nearing the end of its season. Current standings are:

'Bloody Jack' at Wayne State

Louis Schaefer portrays Dr. Sargeant and W. Neil Dalley creates the role of Stephen Barrows in the Hilberry's

"Bloody Jack." Beth Taylor plays Ellen, Dr. Sargeant's daughter who is in love with Barrows. Marian Mills is Mrs. Hiller, Dr. Sargeant's housekeeper. Morgan, her roguish brother, is portrayed by Bruce Evers, and Maria Angela Tirabassi plays Margaret, another domestic. Richard Bradshaw appears as Inspector Flanders, and Terri Turner Phillips is the doctor's patroness, Lady Chilton.

Robert Emmett McGill directs "Bloody Jack," with scenic design by Ed Krus, costumes by Nicholas John Mozak and lighting by Reid Downey.

"Bloody Jack" continues through May 8 in repertory at the Hilberry Theatre with tickets available at the Wayne State University Theatre box office at Cass and Hancock (577-2972), and at most Detroit area colleges and universities.

MOVIES

'Eyewitness' rates as sure-fire success

By J.T. YURKO
Special to Playtime
'Eyewitness,' from Twentieth Century-Fox. Directed by Peter Yates, written by Steve Tesich. Starring William Hurt, Sigourney Weaver, Christopher Plummer. Rated 'R.'

Steve Tesich and Peter Yates last combined to make one of the most enjoyable films of recent years. "Breaking Away,"

With no big-name stars and a plot as unspectacular as recently graduated high-school kids sitting around wondering "What the heck are we gonna do?" the film demonstrates that such qualities as good writing and direction still make for good films.

The team has paired once again to create "Eyewitness," an off-beat mystery thriller that may make Tesich/Yates one of the best writing/directing teams working today. This film has all the charm of "Breaking Away" combined with a mystery format which should make this film far more financially successful than its predecessor.

Tesich and Yates don't do it all themselves, as they are ably assisted by two marvelous and engaging performances by the film's stars, William Hurt and Sigourney Weaver.

Hurt has left "Altered States" behind to become a janitor who witnesses (?) a murder, and Weaver (Where did she get that underwear?) is down to Earth from her close encounter with "Alien" as the reporter following the story.

Like any good mystery in the Hitchcockian mold, the characters who are pictured are more important than the convoluted plot that frames them. As shown in "Breaking Away," Tesich is a writer who puts most of his emphasis on characterizations, and in "Eyewitness," this is the film's most important and endearing quality. As if Woody Allen had created a mystery, all these people are lovably (or at least intriguingly) neurotic.

The plot is a basic whodone-it, complicated by some foreign intrigue of smuggling Jewish dissidents out of Russia, but what grabs the audience are the characters involved. If you look too closely at some of the plot contrivances, they bare their awkwardness, so leave Sherlock Holmes at home.

On occasion Tesich almost goes too far in giving personality traits and quirks to his character creations, but we are never bored by them, right down to the smallest small talk of the most minor player.

Exciting, different, humorous, and tightly packaged, "Eyewitness" is the first sure-fire hit of the year.

Go fly a kite!

Versatile invention finds popularity surge very uplifting

By LAWRENCE HOWE
Special to Playtime

An ill wind may blow no man to good, as the proverb goes, but a gusty day is the perfect setting for hours of enjoyment. All you need are a few inexpensive materials, imagination, some know-how, an open field and...voila!...you're guaranteed some high-flying fun with a kite.

Throughout its existence, the kite has been one of the most versatile inventions ever made, aiding developments in both the meteorological and aeronautical fields and achieving considerable cultural status in many countries.

Kites originated in China more than 2,000 years ago. They were used by the Chinese army as early as the sixth century to relay signals to troops over great distances. In 1752, Benjamin Franklin used a kite for meteorological experiments, and in 1901, the famed Italian physicist, Guglielmo Marconi, used a kite to raise his antenna for the first trans-Atlantic radio message.

Over the centuries, kites of virtually every imaginable size and shape have been flown — from the tiniest of flyers made by devoted enthusiasts in Japan to the kites used for fishing by natives in the South Pacific islands to the enormous Japanese Wan-Wan kite, which spans 60 feet, weighs approximately 5,500 pounds and requires 150 persons to launch and fly it.

Today, kites can be seen in their most dramatic form in Japan where they are an integral part of the country's national heritage. On the fifth day of the fifth month of the Japanese year, for example, the Boys Festival is celebrated by households which have been blessed with the recent birth of a male child. The proud families fly tubular or "sleeve" kites which resemble a carp, a fish which battles upstream to spawn, symbolic of the son's anticipated progress through the river of life.

The kite also has been used extensively by the pioneers of aviation to study the aerodynamics of flight. In 1783, the Swiss scientist, Daniel Bernoulli, discovered that when the wind blows across a curved airfoil (wing), air speed is increased and a reduction in air pressure occurs along the top surface. This exerts an upward force upon the wing.

The airflow diverted downward by the wing's bottom surface is slowed and produces an upward force from the underside. The combination of the two forces generates the "lift" required for flight.

A further understanding of these aerodynamic principles eventually led to development of the modern airplane wing.

"There has been a remarkable increase in the popularity of kites in recent years," said Paul Garber, a historian emeritus at the National Air and Space Museum. The Smithsonian Institution's annual kite festival and organizations such as the American Kitefliers Association have been fundamental in fostering the resurgence.

"Certainly, not everyone can make a spacecraft or an airplane," Garber added, "but anyone interested in flight can easily make a kite."

Garber noted that ready-to-assemble kites and kite materials are available at most hobby shops and even some drug stores. Many people prefer to construct their own because they learn how to modify the kite to accommodate it to the flying conditions.

Books of instructions are available in libraries or hobby stores; and there is even a kite-flyer's magazine, "Kite Lines," published in Baltimore, Md. The following tips may be helpful to would-be flyers:

- The kite should be "bridled" to face the wind at a lifting angle so that the wind will lift the kite into the sky. The bridle is a line or series of lines attached to strong parts of the kite's structure to position it correctly into the wind. Finding the correct bridle length and flight angle are essentially trial-and-error matters, but if the bridle is properly attached, the kite should balance horizontally and the top of the kite should be about 20 degrees higher than the bottom when the kite is suspended by the bridle strings.

Over the centuries, kites of virtually every imaginable size and shape have been flown. Animal-shaped kites fill the air in China (illustration at right), where the kite originated more than 2,000 years ago. Today, ready-to-assemble kites and kite materials are available at most area hobby shops and even some drug stores.

- The tail helps to improve the stability of a kite by creating extra longitudinal drag. If other factors are properly proportioned and balanced, vertically and horizontally, uncontrollable spinning and looping can be prevented by using the appropriate length of tail. Tails may be made of cord, ribbon, narrow strips of rags tied together or even plastic drinking cups spaced about a foot apart along the length of line.

- Use a stick or a reel for winding the kite string.
- The kite can be landed in a strong wind by winding in the string most of the way and then anchoring the line and walking towards the kite with the line under one armpit while you pull down and back on the line, hand over hand.

- Long, arm-length pulls on the kite string increase the wind pressure on its surface and on its topside and produce a momentary lift which sends the kite higher into the sky.

- Conditions are best for flying when the air is cool and clear. A smooth wind of five to 10 knots is ideal. Sometimes rising bodies of warm air (thermals) help raise the kite into the air.

- Never fly a kite in the rain or near utility wires, and always choose a field where there are no overhead obstructions.

Now, go fly a kite!

"Empire of Passion," a film directed by Nagisa Oshima ("In The Realm Of The Senses"), will be shown by Detroit Film Theatre on Friday at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. General admission tickets at $2 and a $15 ten-ticket discount coupon book may be purchased in advance through the Art Institute ticket office (832-2730) and at the door.

Winner of the 1978 Cannes Film Festival Silver Palm for Best Director, this ghost story of passion and revenge was hailed as "gripping, forceful, stunning and masterly" by the International Herald Tribune.

"The Pizza Triangle," Ettore Scola's 1970 slapstick tragedy, will be offered on Saturday, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Marcello Mastroianni portrays an unhappily married man whose lady friend betrays him with his own best friend, a pizza cook.

Sunday's 3-D classics will feature the 1953 thriller "Creature From The Black Lagoon" on Mar. 22 at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. Tickets for this and all 3-D Sunday films are $2.50 each.

Intended for adults, Detroit Film Theatre weekend movie presentations may not be suitable for all family members. Adult discretion is advised.

Chiropractic Life Center

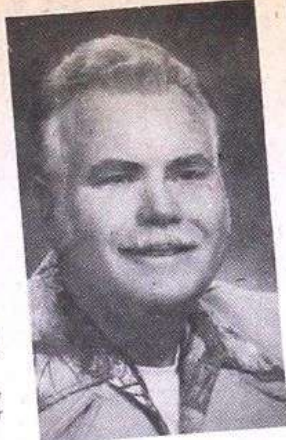

Ian A. Grassam, D.C.

Chiropractic has worked for me after nothing else did!

Health problems forced me to take a lower paying job a couple of years ago. It was either that or let the company retire me.
For years I've suffered from a painful right hip and a stiff neck. High blood pressure and hypertension had me worried about a possible stroke.
I tried everything to ease the pain but nothing seemed to work. Then my wife recommended that I see a chiropractor.
After a couple of weeks of adjustments I am feeling much better. The pain in my hip seems to be gone for the first time in years.
Chiropractic has worked for me after nothing else did. That's why I would recommend chiropractic for everyone.
There's no need to suffer when your problem could be fixed.

Thank you,
John Ross

The Doctor Helped Me and My Baby!

When I was nearly nine months pregnant, my family doctor diagnosed me as having "bell's palsy." He sent me to a neurologist who confirmed his diagnosis and said electric shock treatments would cost me $55 each visit.
My doctor would not give me cortisone because I was planning to nurse my baby. About a week after the baby was born, a friend whose brother had benefited from chiropractic adjustments from Dr. Grassam suggested I visit the doctor.
Wracked with pain, suffering from a nervous twitch and without a good night's sleep in years, I visited Dr. Grassam. After the first treatment, my hands relaxed, my neck felt loose and my looks improved as the feeling returned to my mouth and eye muscles.
Learning of the "Family Plan," my husband Gary and our four children have come together for monthly visits. My baby, who was born during the time I had "bell's palsy", has unusual "blueing" at two weeks old.
Doctors ran all kinds of tests, but found nothing wrong. Dr. Grassam gently tapped spots on her neck, her "blueing" went away and she has been a wonderful, healthy baby.
I nursed her until she was one year old. We all feel better, have better health and definitely tell everyone about chiropractic!

LAID-OFF? OUT OF WORK?

Some people are going through some belt-tightening these days, with uncertain economic conditions threatening jobs, and shrinking the buying power of those hard-earned dollars.

Many people are probably taking stock of their expenses and cutting down on luxuries to make those dollars stretch as far as they can.

I cannot emphasize too strongly, however, the importance of continuing your program of chiropractic care. Your health is a precious commodity.

If you are among those unfortunate enough to be laid off, or are for some reason out of work, and are considering interrupting or cutting down on your chiropractic care to help make ends meet, please talk to us before making so drastic a decision. We'll be happy to discuss the financial problem with you and help work out a solution.

Please, don't interrupt your chiropractic treatment. We made it through the recession in '74 & '75; the 1980 recession is no bigger challenge.

McNamara wins 2 state swim titles

Cherry Hill senior named 'Swimmer of the Year'

Handling the pressures and the drama of the state championships with little difficulty, Cherry Hill's Curt McNamara scored a historic victory at the Class B state swimming championships held over the weekend in Grand Rapids.

The 17-year-old senior became the first-ever Cherry Hill swimmer to win two state gold medals in swimming and also be named as "Swimmer of the Year" in Class B state competition.

McNamara stole the show in the 200-yard individual medley as he beat a supercharged field of the top swimmers from across the state with a 2:00.2 winning performance. He later returned and won his second gold medal with a 1:03.1 in the 100-yard breaststroke.

"I think our swimmers and Curt now believe that they can compete at the level of competition," said an ebullient Cherry Hill head coach Wayne Beerbower whose Spartans finished fifth in the final state standings.

Next state volleyball champs?

With the regional trophy safely stashed away, Wayne Memorial will travel to Battle Creek Central High School on Saturday to play for the Class A state girls' volleyball championship. Coach Doris Busuito's team has been there before, having finished second a year ago. The Zebras will be banking on Lisa Hayes (first row, from left), Kim Eldridge, Pam

After breezing through regional

Zebras eye state VV crown

With the district and regional championships behind them and five young ladies who have been there before, Wayne Memorial is smelling the sweet aroma of a Class A state volleyball championship. Optimism is rampant as Coach Doris Busuito and her Zebras prepare to leave for Battle Creek Central High where they'll be joined by three other regional champs to compete for the coveted state title.

"We've been there before," Coach Busuito pointed out, "and with five girls who were at the state championships we should have the poise and assurances that we can handle the pressures."

"Off of the districts and regionals," Busuito continued, "we're more aggressive and a much stronger team than last year's. And we hope to go all the way."

Wayne was runner-up at State a year ago.

The Wayne coach revealed she doesn't know who or what will be waiting for her and her club on Saturday, "but when you reach that far in state — there're only four teams left — you know they'll be excellent teams."

The Zebras do know however that they'll be on the court at 11:15 a.m. to play in the state semi-final round.

At Howell last week, Wayne captured its second straight regional title by beating the host, Howell. 15-3 and 15-12 as Cheryl Trudell served nine straight serves in the second game to trigger the victory.

The Zebras zapped Dearborn 15-3 and 15-12 in the semis to qualify for the finals.

seventh consecutive Tri-River Conference championship. The fifth place at state was the proverbial icing on the season's cake.

Cherry Hill also came up with a record-setting effort from junior Martin Powers who was two-tenths of a second off from sharing and three-tenths of a second from winning the state crown in the 500-yard freestyle.

Powers posted a 4:50.3, a Cherry Hill record, in finishing second to Okenos's Andrew-Lydens in the gruelling 500 freestyle.

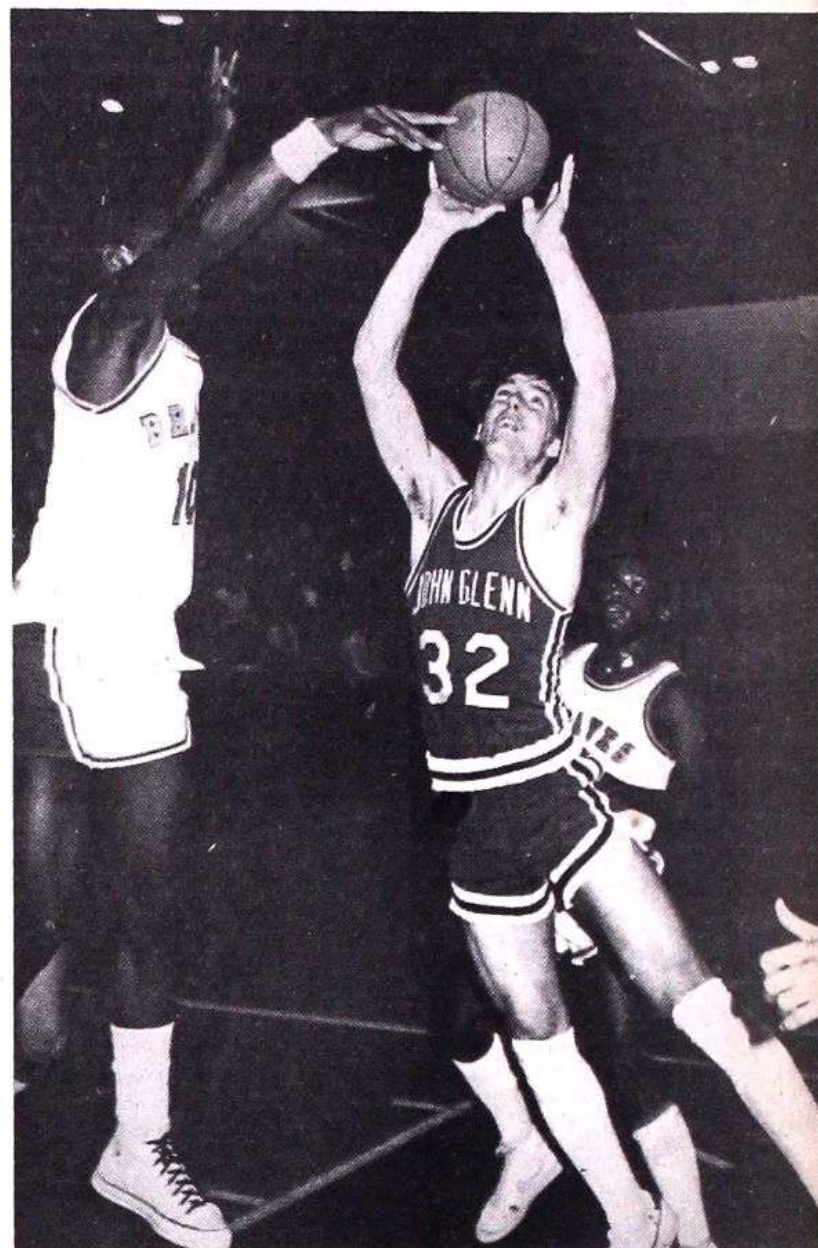

"Both Martin and Lydens swam the second half faster than the first," explained Beerbower. "They held back and in the stretch it was really a two man race."

Powers also picked up a six-place medal for his 1:48.1 performance in the 200-yard freestyle.

Cherry Hill's 400-yard freestyle relay team made up of Mike and John Teschke, Powers and Jim Koss contributed a seventh place (3:25.1), while its 100-yard medley relay squad of Jeff Pryor, Kevin Reside, McNamara and Mike Teschke was awarded a 10th place (1:47.0).

East Grand Rapids won the team title, beating out Battle Creek Lakeview. Lakeview was making its inaugural appearance in Class B competition. (Lakeview was a Class A school until this year).

The top 10 finishers also included: Chelsea, Milan, Cherry Hill, Harper Creek, Fenton, Ludington, Okemos, St. Joseph, and Saginaw Douglas MacArthur.

Detoured shot

Westland John Glenn's Kevin Thweatt (32) finds his path to the basket blocked by Ypsilanti's Fred Johnson (10) who did manage to swat this shot away. It didn't get any better for Glenn who was eliminated from the semi-finals of the Class A regionals by the host, 74-50. Photo by Lothar Konietzko.

Ypsi ends Glenn's regional title chase

Westland John Glenn's chase for a Class A Regional Basketball Championship ended last week as Ypsilanti broke open a close game in the third period and went on to claim a 74-54 victory over Coach Dan Henry's Rockets.

The loss brought the curtains down on a 17-6 won-lost season, the third best record in the Westland-based high school's 21 year history.

In the meantime, Ypsilanti went on to edge PSL champ, Detroit Southwestern, to win the regional championship.

The Westlanders got hurt where they less expected — at the guard spots.

"We figured that Armstrong (Keith Armstrong, Ypsi's 6-7 center) would do his thing," Coach Henry said, "but we didn't expect the guards to give us any trouble."

They did.

Brian Poe and Steve Lawrence came up with nearly half of Ypsilanti's scoring punch as the deceptive Poe tossed in 15 points and Lawrence sank 16 to lead their team. Armstrong, saddled by a tough and rugged Dave Ward, who gave away six inches to the junior center, collected eight points.

Ward, in fact, outscored his all-state rival, punching in 11 for the evening.

But it was Rob Sisson who kept the Rockets in the game most of the first half. Sisson fired in six of his game high 18 points in the first eight minutes as the two semi-finalists exchanged baskets evenly.

Ahead 19-18 at the end of the initial period, Ypsilanti pulled away to a 39-18 advantage at halftime. They then scored a quick knockout in the third period, going up by as much as 19 points before the Rockets launched a counter offensive which carried them with nine.

That was the closest Glenn go however.

Outscored 13-7 and 22-16 in the final two periods, Westland left the court with their sixth defeat.

"I'm proud of the kids," Henry said later. "I feel that they proved that they are one of the best teams in the area. And they also proved another thing, you don't have to be big to play the game. There's still room for the small guy in basketball."

Glenn wound up hitting only 18 of 46 from the field. It canned 18 of 26 from the free throw line, while the Brav connected on 30 of 65 field goals and 14 their 23 attempts at the free throw line.

Grid clinic scheduled

The nation's top football coaching talent is slated for the Medalist two-day Coaches Clinic to be held at the Sheraton Southfield, April 3-4, 1981.

Featured speakers: Coaches Grant Teaff, Baylor University; Emory Bellard, Mississippi State; Dick Crum, North Carolina; Earl Bruce, Ohio State; Bob Widener, Pittsburgh Steelers; and All-Pro Linebacker, Jack Ham.

Local High School mentors to appear on the program are veteran coaches Paul Tererian, Royal Oak Kimball (0); and Charles Jestice, Fordson High School (11-1).

The Clinic is open to all College, High School, Junior High School and youth group coaches. The 1980 Clinic has seen 500 coaches in attendance.

This is a great opportunity for the football coaches in the state of Michigan to improve on teaching techniques, offense and defense football.

Coaches may register in advance by sending fee ($30) to Football Clinic Director, Walt Bazylewicz, 305 Michigan Ave., Detroit, MI 48226.

Where prep scouts should not tread

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

What a high school coach doesn't need during state tournament time is a bunch of college scouts trying to sign or woo one of his — or her — players.

Most of the time college scouts have the sense "to keep away or out of sight during tournament time."

But there are the exceptions.

"Recruiting is disrupting the concentration of our players and our team," pointed out Doris Busuito, who is preparing her Wayne Memorial girls for the Class A state volleyball championships. "We've had a lot of scouts in here, inviting them to auditions, and it shouldn't have happened."

Unlike the boys who sign letters of intent and are assured at least one year of an athletic scholarship, girls must take part in auditions organized by colleges. If the college coaches like what they see, then there could be an offer of a scholarship.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association doesn't have any rules governing the scouting by colleges or the signing of athletes, according to Lonnie Lowrey, assistant director. It's the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) which has set up some stringent rules.

But even those rules can be confusing when it comes to girls' athletics.

In one paragraph of the AIAW — the august body for women's athletics in the country — it's a "no-no" for college athletic directors or their representatives to approach for the reason of signing letters of intent, or arrange off-campus meetings with prospective girl athletes until after the athlete's high school eligibility has expired. But on a separate page it would allow should contacts after March 15 of each year.

"I would be the last person to prevent a kid of mine to get signed by a college," Coach Busuito said, "but when you're thinking about a big tournament — and we are — you should be concentrating on that, and only that."

By the way, Wayne will make its first appearance at the state championship at 11:15 a.m., Saturday, taking on East Kentwood. The 10 a.m. game pits Fraser against Flint Carmel.

If Wayne should win, they would clash with the survivor of the earlier game for the state crown.

The championship will be decided at 3 p.m.

This Saturday the boys basketball teams will battle in the championship games at University of Michigan's Crisler Arena to see who reigns in each of the four classes this year.

Just before the basketball uniforms are put away for the final time until next season, we'd like to congratulate John Glenn on winning the Plymouth Salem District.

And speaking of the University of Michigan, John Glenn cage coach Dan Henry invited Lloyd Carr, assistant football coach of the Maize and Blue, to speak to the Rocket team just prior to last week's regional game against powerful Ypsilanti.

"When you go against a team with more talent than you have, you have to put out that extra effort," Carr told Glenn's players. He cited the illustration of Ohio State being the pre-season favorite in the Big Ten football season last fall and how Michigan's determination won out over all odds and even ended up winning the Rose Bowl game for the first time in Bo Schembechler's career.

"But, win or lose, you've had a great season all ready and you can hold your head high. I read of Glenn's spirit and pride in athletics and it is very gratifying to me."

Carr was responsible for helping to build Glenn's spirit and pride in athletics and it is very gratifying to me.

Carr was responsible for helping to build Glenn's strong football program in 1973, 1974 and 1975 before turning it over to others.

Lloyd is a class person and I felt it would be very inspiring to our players to have him bring a pre-game pep talk," Henry explained.

ANP All-Area on its way

Although the 1980-81 high school basketball season has ended for all of the teams in The Associated Newspapers' circulation area, and before the prep baseball, track and tennis seasons get underway, the ANP will devote the next two issues in tribute to the top cagers, swimmers and wrestlers and the "Coaches of the Year".

Basketball will lead off the star-studded editions.

Both Class A and Class B players will be named to the annual All-ANP Teams.

Don't miss it. We're sure you'll enjoy them.

A picture of dejection

Weary and tired, Westland John Glenn's cagers stroll off the floor at halftime, facing an eight point, 39-31, deficit. It didn't get better in the second half, either, for Coach Dan Henry's Rockets who were ousted in the semi-finals by Ypsilanti. Ypsilanti went on to upset Detroit Southwestern, on Friday to capture the regional championship. Photo by Lothar Konietzko.

Playoffs bring out best in Over 30 hockey play

Round one of the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey playoff games is in the record books. A lot of high-scoring duels highlighted last week's contests with five players carding hat tricks: Dave Zajac scored five goals, Ron Johnson and Bob Eggers netted four pucks apiece.

Little Bill's Trophies had its hands full with Johnson Carbonic which refused to quit, but Bill's came out the victors 9-6.

Jerry Bular led Little Bill's with two goals and three assists. Eugene Taurainen netted the puck twice and assisted two, while Ron Hats and Don Middaugh chipped in two goals apiece and picked up one assist.

Dennis LaPensee scored one goal and assisted two with Ken Carter finishing the game with two assists. Picking up one assist was Dan Thomas.

Ron Johnson kept the Johnson Carbonic squad within reach by scoring four goals and assisting one. Eugene Hudson netted the puck once and picked up one assist. Claud Johnson and John Castellanos assisted two goals apiece while Perry Toeffer, Norm Beasley and Mike Forynski picked up one assist.

Mark LaFond accounted for one goal for Johnson's.

The loss eliminated Johnson Carbonic from the playoffs.

Dave Milam led Jake's Lounge to a 5-1 win over Brock's Builders by scoring two goals. Jim Lear and Al Farina netted one puck each and picked up one assist. Jake Davidson rattled the net for one goal to add to the win. Terry Jobbitt and Ed Spontack finished the contest with two assists while Phil Cerne assisted one goal.

John Clearwood scored Brock's lone goal in the second period with Dave Cherry assisting.

Jake's Lounge will advance to round two of playoff action.

Taste Freeze started off slow against Futurama but skated back to secure a 9-5 win. The winners also will advance. Dave Frankling scored three goals along with one assist. Tom DiLaura tallied twice and picked up one assist. Paul Briski, Paul Cramer and Al Pulk each netted the puck once.

Joe Soukup scored one goal and assisted on two others, while Jim McClure finished the game with three assists and Conrad Madaleno along with Guy Moise each had one assist.

Bob Eggers netted four pucks for Futurama along with one assist with Barry Anderson rattling the net once and assisting three later goals. Stephen Billings, Nick Palise and Rick Rattai assisted one goal apiece.

Dave Zajac had an excellent game for Benny's Pizzeria, scoring five goals and assisting two, to lead the club to a 11-3 victory, and on to round two of the playoffs.

Dave Jones scored three goals along with three assists. Rod Dittmar tallied once and picked up four assists while Jim Thomas netted the puck once and assisted an earlier goal.

Paul Mayworm scored one goal as Ray Schemanske finished the game with four assists. Tom Bryans, Moe Paquette and George Sharp assisted one goal apiece.

Bob Wood and Dennis Darnell scored one goal apiece for Etronic, along with one assist. Dave Fishwick netted one puck and picked up two assists with Rick Mullen finishing with one assist.

The Jock Shop took an early lead and skated past Extra Point Bar & A/C 8-3, to advance in the playoffs. Ron Wojewski led the team with three goals and one assist while Jerry Robertson, Jerry Townsend and Bill McCusker finished with one goal and two assists. Bob Murray and Jerry Peterson had single tallies with Mike Villemure, Bill Creekmore, Curtis Oger picking up one assist.

Jack Bockstanz and Roger Wodgenske netted one puck apiece for Extra Point, in addition to assisting one goal. Dave Fawkes had a single tally while Dan Kubany and Nelson Vanderburgh picked up one assist.

Round three of the playoffs is slated to be played at the Wayne Rink on Sunday, March 22. Game times are 9 and 10:30 p.m.

Champions on ice

Unlike their counterparts in the National Hockey League who are struggling to make the playoffs, the Westland Hockey Association's Red Wings are champions. The local Red Wing club, ages 9 to 10, won 16 of their 21 games including the playoffs this season. Their line-up included: Mark Corriveau, Joe Corriveau, Sam Creekmore, Ron Barck, Steven Phipps, John Sharpe and Ted Judson; second row are Jason Neubecker, Butch Phelps, Kevin Henderson, Jason Skrunbellos and Ricky Rattoi; third row are Wesley Jueckstock, Paul Cramer and Claud Mason. The coaches included Bill Creekmore, assisted by Paul Cramer and managed by Walt Barck. The goalie coach was Tom Lakatos.

Defeat Livonia, 6-1

Jaycees are hockey champs

The Wayne Jaycees' "Squirt B Team" rules as District 5 playdown hockey champions.

The fourth and final championship game was with Livonia.

The Wayne Jaycees played an excellent Livonia team, pressed the play from the initial drop of the puck. From then on, Wayne took an early lead which they never relinquished.

Derrick Allen scored his second hat trick of the playdowns to put Wayne ahead 3-1 halfway thru the second period. Scott Brozowski then took over as he added two more goals for Wayne. Angela Ianni also put the red light on once for Wayne.

Earning assists for Allen's goals were: Brian Murray, Scott Brozowski and Billy Hamilton. Chris Freeman and Daryl Patrick each assisted on Scott Brozowski's goals.

Ianni's goal was assisted by Derrick Allen and Daryl Patrick. Led on by fine coaching and superb offensive and defensive plays, Wayne took a victorious win of 6 to 1, which qualified them for the State Tournament Finals scheduled for this week.

Prior to the final championship game Wayne overpowered the opponents as they defeated Westland (8-1), Farmington (9-4), and Plymouth 6-3.

Westland, Wayne's first prey, proved to be a most-exciting game, especially for Brozowski as he put the red light on 5 times after he opened the scoring at the 8:14 mark of the 1st period.

Wayne's other three goals were scored by Derrick Allen (two goals) and Angela Ianni.

Earning playmakers (3 assists) in the game were Chris Freeman and Angela Ianni. Additional assists were earned by Billy Hamilton (2), Scott Brozowski and Richard Sewell.

In the second game of the tournament with Farmington, the Wayne Jaycees took over a victory of 9-4. This time Derrick Allen shared the spotlight with Brozowski as they each scored a hat trick. Allen was unassisted on all three of his goals.

Brozowski was assisted on his first and third goals by Billy Hamilton. Chris Freeman and Angela Ianni assisted on his second.

Ianni was the first one to put Wayne on the score board as she banged in an unassisted goal. Her second goal of the game had Wayne leading 5-1 after the second period. She was assisted by line-mate S. Brozowski. With 1:22 remaining in the game, Daryl Patrick rapped in the 7th unassisted goal of the game.

In the third game of the tournament,

Plymouth fell to the Wayne Jaycee's in a 6-3 battle. Wayne's Derrick Allen, assisted by James Wadsworth and Kevin Nohovich opened the scoring at 6:47 of the first period. Plymouth fought back and tied the score up.

However, 38 seconds later, Wayne's James Wadsworth had them leading again. The first period ended 2-1.

In the second period, both of the teams each scored once. Chris Freeman (A. Ianni & S. Brozowski) had Wayne's lone.

The third period was all Wayne's as they clicked 3 times to keep a comfortable lead. Scott Brozowski scored his 9th goal in 3 games to put Wayne ahead 4-2. He was assisted by teammates Angela Ianni and Chris Freeman. Angela Ianni then put in her 4th and 5th goal of the playoffs to insure Wayne of their lead. She was assisted by Billy Hamilton both times, plus Chris Freeman and Scott Brozowski.

The Wayne Jaycees Squirt B's scored 29 goals in 4 games and allowed only 9 to capture the crown. They've displayed this type of goal production all season long — remarkably scoring 200 goals in 20 league games. With the help of their excellent goalie, John Lombardo, who has made key saves all year long, they have gone undefeated all season in league competition.

Romulus angler grabs lead in Florida fishing tourney

A Romulus angler took a lead in the 46th Annual Metropolitan South Florida Fishing Tournament. Richie George, 5943 Panam St., landed a 108-pound amberjack in the Unlimited Division. It was caught from the Restless Lady with Capt. Skip Wright, out of the Holiday Isle Marina, Islamorada, in the Florida Keys.

It is the heaviest amberjack landed so far.

The Met Tournament ends May 3.

They proved that they are champs

After dominating the Great Lakes 8 Conference swim league for five years, Wayne Memorial lost a dual meet to league rival, Monroe, forcing Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras into a "do-or-die" situation at the league championships. Wayne tankers came through and won the league tournament and earned a cut of the title, sharing it with Monroe. Members of the 1980-81 championship team are: Jack Underwood (left to right, first row), Mike Byndas, Scott Martin, Andy Balwinski, Alan Jones, David Kaley, Bob Swain, David Losan; second row are diving coach Lance Webber, Coach

Schaffer cards 718 series

Stringing together games of 279-224 and 215, Westlander Bill Schaffer strolled out of the Town & Country Lanes recently with a 718 series, the highest posted this season in the Thursday Nite Men's League.

Schaffer's 279 game also was the best single game bowled in his league this year.
